TALK WITH A POET.

Joaquin Miller--His Wife, Daughter, Personal Appearance and Religious Principles.

CALIFORNIA, NICARAGUA, CUBA—REMUNERATION, AUTOGRAPHS, &C.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]
CINCINNATI, November 7, 1872.

JOAQUIN MILLER.

It was an erroneous one—my opinion of the poet of the Sierras—the poetical, not practical, being which my imagination had pictured, was entirely at fault, and although a spirit of poetry seems to permeate his entire life and action, the practical man is brought out in a conversation which relates to every day subjects. He puts you at ease as soon as you become acquainted, adapted himself to circumstances and is an excellent conversationalist upon any topic. I was offered an excellent opportunity for observation. After introducing myself as a representative of the GAZETTE, he remarked: "I am very glad to see you; your health is pretty well?" Upon receiving affirmative assurance, he said:

"I have one great enemy in Pittsburgh, and one great friend; which is which I do not now know. One of the papers reviewed my book very kindly; the other did it base injustice."

Correspondent—"I understand, Mr. Miller, that you have just returned from visiting some friends; do you feel too much fatigued to give me a short interview?"

Joaquin—"Not at all, sir. I have been visiting my cousins who reside near East Liberty; they have a small farm there, and there is a miniature community of Millers established—their hands are like files—hard and rough—but they are as honest as the day is long. Feel my hands,—they are rough, too; look at those knuckles; large, are they not? I've worked, too—mining."

The sentences came almost in jerks. The correspondent observed his hands, which were exceedingly large—and told of labor.

CALIFORNIA.

Correspondent—"There has always been an indescribable charm about California and that vicinity to me, and I should like very much to visit it."

Joaquin—"Ah! It is a beautiful country, and you will find when you go there that I have not over-drawn the picture. It has been my aim to paint it faithfully and clearly. The trees are beautiful, the lakes clear as crystal, the heavens seem to me more blue there than in any other country. The hills are brown, and the stars large as lilies—and the population is composed of true men—the truest and bravest God ever made; those who went there and settled years ago, were men of brave hearts. The cowards dared not risk the long voyage—and the weak died on the way."

NICARAUGEA.

Correspondent—Mr. Miller, I notice some severe criticisms on your poems. The public claim that Walker in your "With Walker in Nicaragua," was only five feet six inches tall, when you say six feet.

Joaquin—"Well, now, that is really absurd; the public and I differing upon a few inches merely for the sake of criticism; am I not allowed any poetical license? Why, I have heard some say that I was not at Nicaragua at all. Here is my proof. Colonel Thomas there [he mentioned a gentleman who was busily engaged in straightening a voluminous correspondence] will tell you I was; he fought, I ran; he was a man, I a boy." The Colonel remarked that every word was true, and bent again to his work without seeming to notice the interruption.

Mr. Miller—"I wish you would go to California; it is the purest and most exhilerating climate in the world. There you may ride all day with no companions save your own thoughts and the angel spirits which constantly hover around us."

AS A SPIRITUALISTIC.

Correspondent—"You are not a spiritualist?"

Joaquin—"Do not misunderstand me. I am not a spiritualist who believes in the departed coming around knocking on dish pans, tipping tables, chairs and such. My spirits inhabit a celestial world, are more refined, and elevated, more heavenly, and with their higher, nobler ambitions and thoughts, try to make our lives and thoughts correspond with theirs."

Correspondent—"You have no positive proof of any such existence?"

Joaquin—"You wish too much; you want to see them. I will tell you: Agassiz brings from the very bottom of the sea, the smallest sediment; in it he finds the life which God gave to everything. You come further up into the sea; you find life there. Further and on land, life there; go into the air forty or fifty miles, what is there? Is there not life there, also; that purer atmosphere, is it not, too, inhabited? All this space around us is occupied by angels. Look here—you see this glass; you look into the street and see men, trees and horses, (a figure of speech merely, as we looked at a blank wall—Cor). There is no substance which can pass through that, without injuring it, and yet we can see through it. That is man's invention. Can not the good God, in his infinite power, create a being which, while retaining no visible form, may still be a substance to be seen only by the perfect perception?"

RELIGIOUS PRINCIPLES.

Correspondent—"What are your religious sentiments or convictions?"

Joaquin—"I believe in Christ, but not in creeds. His was a glorious character, and how much better are we when we endeavor to imitate his estimable example—whether any divinity attached to him I am not wise enough to know; but if he were living now, I do not doubt but that he would go about among the poor doing good. He who doubts the existence of a God, I pity. I do not call him fool, but pity him. What more evidence can we want than our own existence?"

HIS WIFE.

"To whom was your book dedicated, Mr. Miller, your wife or daughter?" inquired the correspondent.

Joaquin—"To Maud—little Maud; she is a beautiful girl. I wish you could see her. I have no wife now. When I was candidate for Judge in California she applied for a divorce and I granted one; informed her that I would make no defense. I immediately started for Europe. I have never sought a sensational character, but have endeavored to keep it down. Among the English I was treated as a man and honored, but in America I have been subjected to torrents of vituperation and the basest calumny. What have they against me? Am I not honest? Am I drunken? Do I lie, gamble, or any thing like them? No. What can they bring against me? Nothing. I make no defense in regard to my wife's statements. She is a woman, and as such, I can do nothing else than respect her. If she chooses to live in this way, she may; she is a woman, and can fight her own way. I love all women; there is something ennobling about them. Do you not love them?"

The correspondent made a remark to the effect that he preferred to worship at a distance; acquaintance usually dispelled the charm about a beautiful woman—and then continued.

KIT CARSON'S RIDE.

"There is also some criticism on your "Kit Carson's Ride," Mr. Miller. In one place you mention his having cast aside all things, riding bare-back, and then raising himself in the saddle."

Joaquin—"No, No,—You are mistaken.

'We drew in the lassoes, seized bridle and rein,
'Threw them on, sinched them on, sinched them over again and again.
'Over the girth, cast aside the macheers,
'Cut away the tapidaros, loosed the sash from its fold
'Cast aside the canteens, red spangled with gold.'

"There is your saddle; I say, cast aside the numerous trappings but still retaining the saddle. I have one down stairs—carry it with me to ride—a five hundred dollar saddle, presented to me."

CUBA.

The colonel who had sat in silence deeply meditative came forward with a Cuban bond for our inspection. After remarking upon its artistic beauty, Mr. Miller said: "There is a history back of that bond which the interviewer is not supposed to have—I expect I shall end in Cuba."

Colonel—"Yes, get about as far as New Orleans and then stop."

The two men began talking in Spanish and the interviewer had the deep sagacity to remain silent and take no part in the conversation; they spoke like natives and he would not display his ignorance.

PECUNIARY REMUNERATION.

Mr. Miller remarked something about being well. The correspondent presumed that he received ample compensation for his literary productions.

Joaquin—"I do not suppose that there is a better paid poet in the world than I. No one ever, to my knowledge, received $2,000 for a single poem, as I did. It is my intention to condense my writings as much as possible. I travel to educate myself, and find it expands the thought wonderfully."

AUTOGRAPHS.

The correspondent asked for an autograph, remarking that we lived in an age of hero-worship, and a memorial of this kind would be preserved as a souvenir of an illustrious personage.

The poet remarked that it would afford him pleasure to give me a dozen if I wished, but such generosity I would not hear of. They are these: "Very truly yours, Joaquin Miller," "Faithfully your friend, Joaquin Miller," and "To Mr. ———. When you come to California, stay a month, and I will teach you to ride and shoot. Faithfully your friend, Joaquin Miller."

PERSONAL APPEARANCE.

In appearance Mr. Miller is prepossessing—a look of cordiality and friendship characterizes his countenance. He has blonde hair hanging to his shoulders, a blonde beard and moustache neatly trimmed, and deep, expressive gray eyes; in height about five feet ten inches, well formed and graceful. In conversation he hesitates as though studying his words, and when he speaks his delivery is so rapid that it was with difficulty your correspondent stenographed his replies. It is his desire to say nothing of his family affairs, while he strenuously avoids any mention of his wife's name. That, he says, is a personal affair, with which the public has no business.

"ANDERSON."

—The Illinois Female College at Jacksonville, Illinois, belonging to the Illinois Conference of the Methodist Church, was burned last Monday night. The loss on the building is about $50,000. It was insured to the amount of $30,000. Prof. Demotte, President of the College, lost about $5,000 in furniture, which was insured. There were about sixty young ladies in the college, all of whom escaped and saved their wardrobes and books. The students have been provided with comfortable quarters. This is the third time the college has been burned in nine years. Several persons were severely injured while endeavoring to save the building.

—A dispatch from the end of the Atcheson, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad, on the western line of Kansas, says that the buffalo are so thick that a train cannot run with safety. They roam on the track by thousands, making their way southward.

FACETIÆ.

THE people of Chicago and Boston call red-haired girls fire-belles.

THE New York Mail says that the Boston papers are so full of the great fire, a man can hardly hold one of them in his hands.

MRS. O'LEARY wonders "if thim Bosting spalpeens will be after schwearing that it was her poor baste of a cow that burned their city."

AN Alsatian peasant would be a model emigrant, being honest, industrious and thrifty, were it not for one slight fault—he will not emigrate.

A BLUE-EYED gentleman in Germantown, who contradicted his wife, has a beautiful pair of black eyes now. His wife gave them to him with a flat-iron.

LOVE induced a beautiful and accomplished girl of Chicago to marry a blind man with a club foot. He was a poor man, while his wife has an income of $1,500 a year.

A GENTLEMAN in Carroll county, Ga., made a furious attack upon the handle of a skillet, supposing it to be the head of a black snake protruding from under the stove.

A MAN up street whose chickens have been stolen was reminded that the Lord moves in a mysterious way, and promptly replied that he did not believe it; he thought it was the neighbors.

THE latest thing in ladies' fashions is to have a poodle dyed to match the suit. If that fashion prevails, the dog department of many of our wealthy citizen's establishments will be pretty extensive.

A KNOWING one says it may be set down as a rule that the sentimental young ladies who scratch off poems about death and the grave have holes in their stockings. And the young gentlemen who do the same thing.

A WESTERN widow advertises for a husband as follows: "Wanted, a brave-hearted man who has buffeted the storms of life and did not tremble for the issue when the troubles came; must be refined and respectable, middle-aged and discreet.

A MAN recently broke off a marriage because the lady did not possess good conversational powers. A friend told him he should have married her, and then refuse her a new bonnet, to have developed her power to talk.

"MOTHER," said a little girl who was engaged in making her doll an apron, "I believe I will be a Duchess when I grow up." "How do you ever expect to be a Duchess, my daughter?" her mother asked. "Why, by marrying a Dutchman, to be sure," replied the girl.

THE American mastodon must have been a monstrous beast. His teeth have been found in Michigan, the terminal segments of his backbone were unearthed in the Gulf States, and now they've discovered his near fore-foot in Iowa. His tail, if he had one, is to be looked for somewhere about Patagonia.

A LITTLE girl who was visiting the family of a neighbor, heard them speak of her father as a widower, and on her return home, said: "Pa, are you a widower?" "Yes, my child. Don't you know that your mother is dead?" "Why, yes, I know that mother is dead; but then you always told me you were a New Yorker."

A LAZY dyspeptic was bewailing his own misfortunes, and speaking with a friend on the latter's hearty appearance. What do you do to make yourself so strong and healthy? inquired the dyspeptic. Live on fruit alone, answered the friend. What kind of fruit? The fruit of industry; and I am never troubled with indigestion.

THE most satisfactory bet for all parties concerned, was that made on the election in Bridgeport last Monday night: If Grant was elected, the young man won the lady, and if Greeley was elected, the lady was to have the young man. The result shows that on authority of the young lady herself that she is perfectly willing he should have the prize.

A WRITER tells a story of two well known Southern clergymen, one of whom undertook to rebuke the other for using the weed. "Brother G.," he exclaimed, without stopping to ask any other questions, "is it possible you chew tobacco?" "I must confess I do," the other quietly returned. "Then I would quit it, sir!" the old gentleman energetically continued. "It is a very unclerical practice, and I must say a very uncleanly one. Tobacco! Why, sir, even a hog would not chew it!" "Father C," responded his amused listener, "do you chew tobacco?" "I? No, sir!" he answered gruffly, with much indignation. "Then, pray, which is the most like the hog, you or I?"

AMONG THE FLOWERS.

Gossip About Boquets—Where to Get Them—And the Popular Beauties.

Twenty years ago a boquet of exotics in mid winter was a rarity that could scarcely be found or purchased. There were private hot houses where a few flowers could be raised during the cold months, but the varieties were limited. Now no ball room is complete without flowers; they are so abundant and comparatively inexpensive in winter that they are within the reach of all.

Long before daylight on winter mornings the New York florist's messengers are dispatched for quantities of roses, camellias, carnations, geraniums, etc., necessary for the requirements of the day. When orders are received for weddings, funerals, or large entertainments, or on days before balls at the Academy of Music, an extra supply is necessary, and demands are made on Philadelphia and Boston. The roses are largely imported from the latter place.

Boquets will be made ball shape this winter, or tied loose, Boston fashion. Baskets round and oval inform are the most desirable. It is quite the fashion now to send, instead of the stiffly tied boquets, presents of cut flowers. Ladies delight in this arrangement, as the flowers remain fresh so much longer than when the stems are fastened on sticks.

Flowers purchased for funerals are of the most expensive kind, and yield a large revenue. In midwinter the price of a handsome basket is from $8 to $50. Boquets can be made from $3 to $25. Single rosebuds cost 25 cents, and carnations 20 cents. Smilax is sold for $1 a yard, and violets by the dozen at 12 cents. One spray of lillies of the valley costs 25 cents.

The harvest of florists occurs about the holidays, when they work day and night. Every little insignificant flower is used to fill in somewhere, and to help to round the symmetrically shaped boquet, or the gorgeously laden basket. Sometimes flowers are kept over a day or two, and when used are sprinkled with perfumery.

Wealthy people invest largely in flowers on all occasions of festivity. Large floral bells, which cost from $100 to $200, are ordered for weddings; then the brackets and vases must be trimmed and filled, and trailing baskets of rare flowers must ornament every table and tripod.

Full blown roses are not used by florists when buds can be obtained. The white lady slipper, which has been used with such a clustering, fringy effect in all white boquets during the summer months, is a garden flower, and has to be replaced in winter by white carnations and rosebuds.

Lillies are to be raised in profusion by horticulturists the coming season, and will no doubt be greatly sought, as for color, grace and odor, they are incomparable.

Roses of all variety fill the hothouses. The Marchiel Neil, a large yellow rose, is a most gorgeous flower. The bouslin, raised in great perfection in Boston, is a delicate pink rose and very fragrant.

Violets are to be forced in hot houses this winter for the first time. The favorite varieties are the viola perpuria plena, and the viola cerulea plena, which is darker in color and odorous, but not so much in favor.

A beautiful double scarlet geranium is the last novelty in the hot-house. It blossoms in bunches of four or five flowers which are full of carnations.

Roman hyacinths are among the newly imported plants displayed in greenhouses. They are natives of France, are both white and blue, and very fragrant.

Orange flowers, of course, are standard exotics; they will always remain the most delicate perfume and the most costly in price.

The bauvardia jessamine is in large demand. It is very beautiful and fragrant, and a favorite flower for the hair.

Tea roses, carnations, and violets, with trailing sprays of smilax, are the flowers in favor for ornamenting the person.

The waxen, odorless camelia is no longer worn, being used for crosses, baskets, and standard pieces only.—Brooklyn Eagle.

OUR GREAT HOTELS.

How Much Men Who Can Run Hotels Make.

[Washington Correspondence Chicago Tribune.]

Some days ago I met Mr. A. H. Haskins, a widely known room clerk, whose experience is probably equal to any one of his avocation. In a communicative moment, at Willard's, he gave me the following figures as to the profits of the leading hotels of the East. I took them down at the time, and believe them to be as nearly correct as anything of the sort obtainable.

Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York—Rent, $200,000, not inclusive of stores beneath it; profits, $350,000. The greatest business in America of the character. Twenty years ago the ground was offered for 99 years for $500 per annum.

Metropolitan Hotel, New York—Rent at present, $195,000. Just resuming and recovering from young Tweed's management.

St. Nicholas Hotel, New York—Rent, $87,000; annual profits rising $175,000. Hawks, the proprietor, has leased the new Windsor Hotel, Fifth avenue.

Continental Hotel, Philadelphia—Rent, $80,000; profits above $175,000.

Grand Central Hotel, New York—Very cheap rent—said to be the cheapest for the opportunities—only $65,000; profits $150,000.

Astor House, New York—Rent $75,000. Very successful on the European plan. Profits $85,000.

New York Hotel, New York—Rent $60,000. Profits, $90,000, being full of Southerners all summer.

Parker House, Boston—Owned by the proprietor. Profits, $125,000.

Gilsey House, New York—Enormous rent, $85,000; profits, $40,000.

Hoffman House, New York—Profits, $75,000.

Arlington Hotel, Washington—Rent, $40,000; profits, $75,000.

The following hotels clear $50,000 per annum: Brevoort, Clarendon, French's, New York; Taylor's, Jersey City (does the largest bar business in the United States); Cataract House, Niagara Falls.

The following hotels make $40,000 per annum: St. James, New York; Coleman, New York; Sturtevant, New York; St. Cloud, New York; West End, Long Branch; Grammercy Park, New York; Revere House, Boston; Tremont House Boston; Metropolitan, Washington; Ebbitt House, Washington.

The following hotels make profits as appended: Albemarle, New York, $30,000; Westminster, New York, $30,000; Grand, New York, $50,000 (rent reduced to $45,000); Clifford, New York, $25,000; United States, New York, $15,000; Belmont, New York, $20,000; Merchant's, New York, $35,000; Mansion House, Brooklyn, $25,000; Everett, New York, $50,000; Pierrepoint, Brooklyn, $25,000; American, Boston $30,000; Congress Hall, Cape May, $36,000 (1872); Stockton, Cape May, $57,000; Congress Hall, Saratoga, $75,000.

The largest hotel in the United States, as to room capacity, is probably the Grand Union at Saratoga. Mr. A. T. Stewart's new Woman Hotel, New York, has above 500 rooms. The new Windsor, New York, has about 400 rooms.

GENERAL LAFAYETTE'S WATCH.

The Gift of the Great Washington Lost Forty-eight Years and Discovered in a Louisville Junk Shop.

It is doubtless within the recollection of many in this city that in the year 1824 General Lafayette made a tour of this country, attended by such an ovation as offered perhaps, the grandest spectacle of a nation's tribute to a hero the world has ever seen. During his tour, while on a visit to some town in the State of Tennessee, the General was mysteriously robbed of his watch, a valued souvenir, which had been presented to him (in 1781) by General George Washington, to commemorate at once the affectionate relations which had long existed between them, and his gallant services at the siege of Yorktown, the crowning event in the struggle for American Independence. Directly upon the robbery becoming known, most strenuous efforts were made for its recovery, but, despite the fact that the Governor of Tennessee offered a reward of one thousand dollars for its return, not the slightest trace of it was thereafter obtained, and General Lafayette was eventually compelled to return to France, resigned to the thought that the precious gift of his dear friend was lost to him forever.

The years passed on, and with their lapse men's recollections of the circumstances faded away. Lafayette died in 1834, and for a space of forty-eight years the stolen watch bore an unknown history. At the end of that time, but a few days ago, a gentleman residing in this city, while visiting Louisville, attended an auction sale at a junk shop, where, strange to relate, he found among the articles offered a watch, which, upon examination, he discovered to be the long lost watch of Lafayette.

Suffice it to say that he eagerly purchased it, and as quickly formed the resolution to transmit it to the family of General Lafayette, now residing in Paris; pending which transmission, however, the gentleman has brought it to his home, and has consented to its exhibition for a few days at E. A. Tyler's jewelry store, on Canal street.

The watch is open faced, of gold, with a double case, and may be remarked as of a peculiar appearance, being of only ordinary size, but nearly as thick as it is wide. The outer case bears upon its entire surface carved figures, in bas relief, representing the picture of Mars offering a crown to the goddess of Peace, who is surrounded by her emblems, while over all appear the stern implements of war, hung high out of reach. On the inner case appears the yet clearly legible inscription:

G. Washington
To
Gilbert Mattiers de Lafayette.
Lord Cornwallis's Capitulation,
Yorktown,
Decb'r 17, 1781.

On the covering of the works is seen the maker's name—E. Halifax, London, 1759.

One can believe that the sight of this relic, with its hosts of historical recollections clustering about it, is well fitted to awaken a host of reflections, and carry one's recollections over the bridge of nearly a century, to the time when the two dead and gone hero friends stood side by side, carving out their glorious names and fame, which to-day shine through the long vista of years with a lustre that can never fade.—New Orleans Times, October 31.

THE SOLDIER'S FUNERAL.

Address of Bishop Whipple at the Grave of General Meade.

The address of Bishop Whipple at the grave of General Meade was very impressive. In the course of his remarks, he said:

I have not come to bear tributes of respect to this great soldier who is dead. The city, the State, the nation—all have done this. Until longest time shall last, among the names which are inwrought in our country's history, his name will be a household word. I stand by the grave of the one I loved, and my thoughts are of that great One on whom he leaned as he went down into the dark valley, and of the land of beauty which is afar off.

How poor are the words of praise of the sleeping dead! Far sweeter is the voice from Heaven: "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord;" and to know that he whom we loved so well, when his hands were unclasped from earthly things, could say, with the intuition of the blessed: "The Lord is my shepherd, therefore can I not want. Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil."

During our late civil war, in its darkest days, I happened to be in Washington, and I received a telegram from our brother, asking me to come to his camp and celebrate the Easter communion. It was a strange place for Easter flowers, and Easter songs, and the Easter story of the Resurrection; but I don't recall a service more redolent of the peace of Heaven. Many of the bronzed men that knelt that day at the Lord's table, like him who is lying here, are sleeping with the dead. Others are scattered afar in this busy world. I knew that day that we, too, had centurions who feared God and prayed alway.

Death came to him hardly with the sound of a footfall. There were a few days that friends waited upon medical skill, but his thoughts were in the land whither he was going. The tears of penitence and the look of faith were blent in dying prayers. He asked his pastor for the Communion, and he gathered by the Lord's table manna for the last journey. And so he fell asleep, in the blessed sleep.

The country needs men—not men that curse and swear, not men who cheat and lie, not men who never pay any act of worship but at the dram-shop; but men that believe in God, and are ashamed to sin, men that can show us how to live, and, if need be, show us how to die. If we thus live—fearing God, and living in holy obedience to His law—it will matter little when death shall come, for though we shall go to lie down in the quiet churchyard, they that have lived and loved here together will soon be together.

THE EPIZOOTIC.

Lament of a Human Sufferer.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin gives the following equine epic:

Upon my sole, I've walked so much,
Since horses have been hoarse,
I feel like some pedestrian sport
In training on the course.

I've worn my boots to sandals, and
The sand's all in my feet;
My calves won't work, if oxen do,
For horses on the street.

Such "pilgrim's progress" as this is
Makes each man "bunion" hate;
And, though a strict teetotaler,
He's corned in spite of Fate.

Forgotten now is horsemanship,
And driving's a lost art,
Hotels can't furnish carriages,
They've nothing but the carte.

The price of leather's going up
At a most fearful rate,
And every cow hides quivering
Lest shafts should be her fate.

No car 'os now will carry us,
Urged on by driver's whacks,
Oh for the wings Icarus had,
Although they went by wax!

Then let us hope that horses may
Be freed from present woes,
And running on their feet again,
Instead of at the nose.

LEGISLATURES.

Massachusetts.

BOSTON, November 19.—The first day's session of the Legislature has been mainly occupied in receiving petitions for amendments to insurance charters and the appointment of Commissioners. The Old South Society applied for leave to sell or lease its church property. The city of Boston applied for leave to issue bonds; also for a law regarding the erection of buildings. Leave was asked to introduce a bill to incorporate Wm. Gray, Otis Norcross, Wm. Claflin, Geo. C. Richardson and others as the Boston Merchants Exchange, with leave to hold two millions in real estate. An order was adopted to consider the expediency of providing for the better protection of parties believing themselves insured.

North Carolina.

RALEIGH, November 19.—The General Assembly of North Carolina completed its organization to-day. Colonel J. T. Morehead was elected Speaker of the Senate, and Captain Jas. Robinson Speaker of the House. All the officers of both Houses are Conservatives. The Governor's message was sent to the House to-day, but was not read, as both Houses were in joint session, comparing the vote for Governor and State officers. The Governor's message will be read to-morrow.

Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, November 19.—Four other Conservatives have arrived and enrolled their names at the Capitol, and one Republican, making fifty, which is one less than a quorum.

In the Senate nineteen Senators were present, being two less than a quorum. Both Houses adjourned until to-morrow.

ST. LOUIS.

Vigilance Committee in Lafayette County—Stone for the New Custom House.

ST. LOUIS, November 19.—The Republican learns by private advices that a vigilance committee has been organized in Lafayette county, this State, for the purpose of lynching Cal Turner, who shot and killed Mr. Groves a few days ago for an alleged libelous publication. The Sheriff called on the citizens to assist him in preserving the peace, a number of whom responded, and Turner was protected. Since then the vigilants have notified the citizens who have aided the Sheriff to leave the county, and they have deemed it expedient to do so.

THE NEW CUSTOM HOUSE.

Supervising Architect Mullett has been here several days examining the quarries in this vicinity, with a view of determining what stone shall be used in the construction of the new custom house here. He left last night for Washington and will report the result of his observations.

NATCHEZ.

A Crisis Imminent in France.

THIERS AGAIN THREATENING TO RESIGN.

Police Insubordination in London Spreading.

FRANCE.

THE VOTE OF CONFIDENCE TO THIERS.

PARIS, November 19.—It is probable that in consequence of the small majority in the National Assembly yesterday on the adoption of the vote of confidence demanded by President Thiers, he will ask for another vote.

THIERS THREATENING TO RESIGN.

PARIS, November 19.—President Thiers is much agitated over yesterdays' proceedings in the Assembly, and passed a sleepless night. He declares that he will resign unless the resolution of confidence receives a full vote and a larger majority. The deputies of the Left held a meeting to-day, and voted to send a delegation to the President to dissuade him from his purpose. The deputation waited on the President this afternoon. Thiers told them he was still inclined to tender his resignation. His health had been affected. The course of the Right rendered it impossible for him to conduct the Government. The army was faithful, and would ensure the orderly transmission of power to his successor.

The delegation assured the President that the Left would introduce constitutional projects in harmony with his views to-morrow or Thursday, the passage of which would be fully equivalent to a vote of confidence.

Midnight.—The members of the Right also held a caucus to-day, at which two hundred and eighty votes were cast. They resolved to oppose any formal proclamation of the Republic, abstain from combinations for the restoration of the Monarchy, and adhere firmly to the Pact of Bordeaux. At the same time they declared their willingness to grant M. Thiers the Presidency for life if he will frankly take conservative ground and constitute a reponsible ministery and give up his right to participate in parliamentary debate.

A Cabinet Council was held at Versailles to-night, but nothing was decided upon. The Cabinet meets to-morrow morning. There are rumors that the Ministers will resign, but the hope is entertained that the crisis will pass and leave affairs in statu quo.

The report is revived that the Right will propose a triumvirate should the President and Ministers resign.

GREAT BRITAIN.

POLICE INSUBORDINATION.

LONDON, November 19.—Many of the police having expressed their indignation at the suspension of the eighty members for insubordination, some two hundred more were suspended to-day. The insubordination is spreading, and it is feared that further suspensions will be necessary, and the excitement consequent on the unguarded condition of the streets increased. The Strand was without police at 11 o'clock this morning.

BOSTON.

Funeral of a Victim of the Late Fire.

REPORT OF RELIEF COMMITTEE.

The Citizen's Relief Committee have made a report, in which they say: "The number of applicants for aid has been about one thousand, of which we think three fourths are heads of families. In our judgment five thousand persons are represented in these applications. To those who resided in the burnt district, and who lost their houses, the committee are furnishing such as have taken other quarters with furniture, bedding, stoves, fuel and groceries, the latter sufficient for immediate wants. To such heads of families as were employed in the district, and who resided elsewhere, groceries and fuel have been given, and in some cases money to pay rent. There are many applications from unmarried men and women who lost their employment as well as their tools by the fire, and were left without any means of support.

The committee have referred all asking for employment to the committee appointed for this purpose, and in some cases, where necessity appears to be urgent, have given money sufficient to pay a week's board, and have given orders for tools. The committee find the number of mechanics and of the laboring classes to be much larger than they expected, and at present there is an increase rather than any falling off in the number of applications. We estimate that when the cases already in hand shall have been investigated and passed upon the sum of thirty thousand dollars will have been expended. How much longer these applications will continue remains to be seen, but it is evident that the losses have been much under-estimated in the department of labor, and it seems certain that very large calls will continue to be made for assistance, and means larger than now appear available will be required to enable the Committee to continue the work as it is now being done.

Kidder, Peabody & Co. have given $1,200 to the police fund, for the benefit of the invalided officers and the families of those deceased who are in need.

THE MAYORALTY.

Wm. Gray and other prominent citizens recommend Otis Norcross for Mayor of Boston, as the best man to meet the requirements of the city at this time. The Journal and Transcript endorse Norcross.

LOUISVILLE.

Railway Collision—Election Returns.

LOUISVILLE, November 19.—This morning, at Deputy, Ind., thirty-eight miles from this city, the morning train from Cincinnati, on the O. & M. R. R., consisting of the engine, baggage and two passenger cars, stopped to take water, when a freight train ran into it, telescoping the two passenger coaches and almost demolishing them. Conductor Blackstone, of the passenger train, saw the freight train coming, and warned the passengers, most of whom jumped out, but the women seemed paralyzed with fear. Mrs. S. K. Foote, wife of an insurance agent here, and her child, were bruised and cut badly, but not dangerously. Mrs. McQuade, of Nashville, had her skull fractured, is badly bruised, and is expected to recover. Mrs. Edwards, of this city, and child, were badly injured. Physicians were at the depot and prompt attention was paid to the wounded, who were brought in on a baggage car. The wrecked cars caught fire from a stove, but the flames were extinguished by the train hands. Late to-night Mrs. McQuade's condition is not improved.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 19.—The Grand Encampment of the I. O. O. F. met in this city to-day in regular annual convention. W. H. Pierce.

—Michael Carranen, an Italian, who was said to be wanted by the police of Chicago, was arrested in Brooklyn last Monday night on a charge of setting fire to the France House in that city on the 8th of October last. Carranen violently resisted the officers, and when searched in the station house, two pistols, a razor and a knife were found with him. He has already served a term in the State prison of New York.

—Two freight trains on the Louisville & Cincinnati Short Line Railroad, running out of time, came in collision on Monday morning, near Verona, about thirty miles from Covington, Ky. One locomotive was totally demolished, and the other materially damaged. Eight freight cars were smashed. The freight was damaged. The estimated loss is $40,000. Three men were slightly injured.

—A Convention of the friends of prison reform was held in Indianapolis on Tuesday. Representatives were present from all parts of Indiana. C. F. Coffen, of Richmond, addressed the Convention, giving information he had obtained in visiting European prisons and suggested reforms. A committee was appointed to memorialize the Legislature on the subject of reform.

—The Denver Diamond Company has perfected an organization. It is said that extensive operations will be commenced as soon as the weather permits.

THE CAPITAL.

Alleged Conspiracy Against Election Laws in the State of Louisiana—Amnesty to Southerners—Weather Probabilities—The Arrest of Alabama Legislators Condemned—Reinvestigation Ordered into the Case of the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company—New Rules for the Redemption of Mutilated Currency.

WASHINGTON, November 19, 1872.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

Over the north-west and upper lakes, and thence to the Ohio valley, northerly to westerly winds, occasionally snow, cold, partly cloudy and clearing weather; in the Gulf States, falling barometers, winds becoming westerly to northerly, colder and cloudy weather and light rain; in the South Atlantic States, south-westerly winds, veering to-morrow to north-westerly, with partly cloudy weather; on the lower lakes, and thence over the Middle and Eastern States, south westerly to north-westerly winds, cloudy weather and occasional belts of snow and rain.

REDEMPTION OF MUTILATED CURRENCY.

By direction of the Secretary of the Treasury the practice of transmitting transfer checks in redemption of old, defaced and mutilated currency in sums of five dollars and upwards, and legal tender notes in sums of fifty dollars and upwards, forwarded by express to the Treasurer of the United States, will be discontinued on December 1st, 1872. Thereafter returns for such remittances will be made in all cases by express at the expense of the department in new legal tender notes or fractional currency, in such denominations as the owners may request. When no request is made, returns will be made in currency of the same kind as that received.

THE CHICAGO RELIEF FUND.

The Treasurer of the Relief Committee of Chicago arrived here on Saturday and made application to Governor Cooke for the remainder of the amount of the District of Columbia's contribution for the relief of the sufferers by the Chicago fire of last year, stating that the Relief Committee intended sending it to Boston. The balance is $25,000. Governor Cooke declined payment, on the ground that Chicago had published an announcement that no pecuniary aid was needed, and that if the money was desired for Boston, the Mayor of Chicago should so state, and the amount would be immediately placed to his credit for that amount.

ARREST OF ALABAMA LEGISLATORS.

The action of the United States Marshal in Alabama in arresting the Democratic members of the Legislature for alleged violation of the election laws and carrying them to Mobile to prevent a quorum of the Legislature, is severely condemned here by the administration as unwise, unnecessary, and perhaps illegal. If the account of the affair as telegraphed North is correct, the Marshal who made the arrest will receive a severe reprimand, if not the greater punishment of being dismissed from office. Such is the expressed view of Attorney General Williams.

ALLEGED CONSPIRACY AGAINST ELECTION LAWS.

The United States Marshal at New Orleans made application to the President by telegraph, on Saturday last, for troops to aid him in arresting certain persons who were conspiring against the election laws, and who manifested an intention to resist the federal authorities. The President promptly refused to comply with the request, deeming such action entirely unnecessary, especially when there was no information showing that the civil authorities were powerless to execute the laws and punish those who attempt to violate them.

AMNESTY TO SOUTHERNERS.

There is good reason for believing that the President will, in his forthcoming message, recommend to Congress to complete the work of amnesty by making it universal, and by restoring those to citizenship who are now excluded by the third section of the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution. Such a course has been urged upon the President by several members of the Cabinet, and one of them is authority for saying that he has decided to do so.

REINVESTIGATION ORDERED.

The Collector of the first Georgia district has been ordered to make a reinvestigation of the case against the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company of Augusta. The case is similar to those recently settled against the Central and other railroads of Georgia.

MEETING OF COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS.

A majority of the Committee on Appropriations held a meeting at the capitol to-day, and remained in session two hours. The business was principally confined to questions preliminary to entering upon the duties before them.

—The report in the New York papers that the Narraganset Insurance Company, of Providence, R. I., has suspended, is untrue. The entire losses of the company by the Boston fire cannot exceed $300,000. The company's assets are $700,000 and it will continue business with $3,000,000 capital.

—D. A. Ranzedas, a clerk in Louisville, on Tuesday evening struck at a dog crouching under the steps of his residence with the butt of a gun. The hammer struck the stone steps and discharged the gun, lodging a load of duck shot in the young man's breast. He ran twenty or thirty steps, exclaiming, "I'm shot," and fell dead on the pavement.

IT is reported that a plan is being matured by Commissioner Douglass, by which revenue assessors shall be dispensed with and revenue stamps be placed in the hands of collectors for sale. It is believed that the work of this Bureau will be as effectively performed, at a saving of several million dollars of expense to the Goverement annually.

AMONG the other losses inflicted by the Boston fire, is that of the papers, letters and manuscripts of the historian, Prescott. These, during the absence of the family having possession of them, had been stored for safety in the vault of a large warehouse. Many of these manuscripts were copies of rare works and documents relating to early Spanish and American history. Their loss will be a great calamity to the literary world.

IT is stated in the Illinois papers that Minister Washburne is certainly a candidate for the United States Senate, and with a fair prospect of success. When General Oglesby consented to make the canvass for Governor it was with the understanding he should succeed Trumbull in the Senate. The contest for the place between Washburne and Oglesby will be very spirited, and it is not at all unlikely the former will have the quiet support of the President, to the extent he deems it judicious, as a citizen of Illinois, in behalf of his just and always fast friend.

A REPORT was in circulation a short time since, and then denied, that a large number of Roumanian Jews were to emigrate to this country. It now seems that two thousand of these people are already on their way, and their compatriots in New York are preparing for their reception. Apropos of this, is the report that the authorities on the continent of Europe are greatly disturbed at the gradually increasing tide of emigration to this country. This is especially the case in Germany, where the Emperor William has issued stringent orders, compelling railway companies to aid in repressing emigration.

THE pension report, just completed, shows the total number of pensioners on the rolls to be 232,229, of which number 33,838 were added during the year. The total amount of all pensioners on the list is $25,480,578. There are four widows of revolutionary soldiers on the rolls, and 578 widows of soldiers of the war of 1812. At the close of the last fiscal year there had been issued by the pension office 7,770 commutation orders in lieu of artificial limbs furnished in kind. There were issued also 450 commutation orders, amounting to $27,150, and 326 bills have been approved for limbs furnished in kind, amounting to $23,025. The total number of claims for artificial limbs allowed thus far is 9,802.

WE NOTICE, by a tabular statement in the Philadelphia Press, that the allotment to Allegheny county, of stock in the Centennial celebration enterprise, is six thousand eight hundred, which at ten dollars per share, will amount to sixty-eight thousand dollars. The Exposition is to open on the 4th of July, 1876, and continue to November of that year. It will furnish the occasion for one of the grandest exhibitions of American industry and skill that has ever been seen on this continent. It is rumored that Philadelphia will take a very large share of the stock, and she ought to, as the principal benefit of the enterprise will fall to her. Yet a narrow spirit should not prevail, and we hope Allegheny county will do its full duty in the case.

THE Hon. Samuel F. Phillips, of North Carolina, who has been appointed Solicitor General, is a new man in high official position, but is warmly commended by those who know him best. Mr. Phillips is a native of North Carolina, and acted with the Whig party when it was in existence. During the war he resided in his native State, but took no active part in the contest. He identified himself with the Republican party in 1870, and shortly afterwards was nominated to fill the vacancy in the Attorney General's Office of the State, but was defeated by the Democratic candidate. Prior to that time he was the law partner of Judge Merriman, the late Democratic candidate for Governor of the State. During the late campaign he was Chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee, and rendered efficient service. He is about forty-five years of age, is a good lawyer, and is regarded as one of the most sagacious, clear headed men in the State.

WE NOTICE a disposition among several journals to theorize over the majorities in this State at the Gubernatorial and Presidential elections. The difference on the popular vote foots up 105,799. On the larger vote, General Hartranft received over 35,000 majority; on the smaller vote President Grant received 137,728 majority. The inference is, that all this difference is represented by non-voting Democrats. We doubt this, exceedingly. Our view is that there was a heavy falling off in the popular vote on both sides, but that there were several thousands of Democratic votes polled in behalf of President Grant. Of course, it is impossible to ascertain with any accuracy, the facts in the case, but from the well-known lethargy among Republicans, arising from over-confidence, we judge, had there been a hundred thousand Democratic votes detained from the polls, and a full Republican vote cast, there would have been a majority for Grant of not less than 200,000. A fact that goes far toward confirming this idea is, the well-known absence of many Democrats from the polls at the October election. There was not a full vote polled, at the elections, this fall. Inasmuch as the falling off, at the October election, was chiefly Democratic, it follows that the greater loss in November must have been made up from both parties. But we are well satisfied with the result, as it puts Pennsylvania forward as the banner State in the great contest of 1872.

IT WOULD be worth discussing, had not the point been decided already, whether a legislature has the right to limit the power of a constitutional convention. The point came up along with the proposition in the Convention to appoint a Committee on the Bill of Rights,—which the Legislature had prohibited the Convention from interfering with. It is not very probable that the committee will think it desirable to interfere with, or change the existing instrument, yet as an assertion of its rights and power to proceed without limitation, the Convention, by a vote of 106 to 18 proceeded to appoint the committee. The question is so plain as scarcely to furnish the material for discussion. If the Legislature may, in one instance, repress the Convention, it may in anything. Thus it might prohibit its interference with special legislation, the pet evil of our times. Aside from this form of absurdity, it is a well understood fact that the Legislature merely has power to enact laws within the requirement of a constitution, but has not the power to dictate how a constitution shall be constructed or amended. It may refer to the people, certain amendments, and the people voting them, they are made; but a constitutional convention is a body created directly by the people, and as their representative, has power to amend entirely, create a new constitution, or to do as little or much as it may choose. The Legislature, while it can make laws under the Constitution, has no power to arbitrarily prescribe in regard to the instrument itself. Indeed, should laws be passed contrary to the Constitution, they are null and void, because of the superior authority of that instrument. Therefore the members of the Constitutional Convention did wisely in resenting the proposed interference, and determining to follow its own mind. We hope the same independence of purpose will characterize all its proceedings.

THE correspondent of the New York Herald at Washington, is authority for the statement that whatever has seemed vigorous in the treatment of the South by the President in the past, will be henceforth discarded for a more generous and conciliatory policy. The feeling in high quarters at Washington is that the time and the circumstances of the recent election are propitious for reviving the same era of good feeling as was inaugurated by Mr. Monroe's administration after an election by a similar overwhelming majority as that just given. It is reported that in a recent interview with General Sherman the President stated he should devote his best efforts to reunite the North and the South, and similar sentiments are said to have been uttered by him in a conversation with Judge Alexander Rives, of Virginia, an original Union man and friend of his administration. The President's attention has been drawn to the sharp features of the Ku Klux legislation, and it was stated the other day by a member of the Cabinet that the President would like to see those laws modified and all features repealed which were not uniform in their operation over the country as soon as he could be satisfied that there was full protection for life and property in the Southern States. What we suppose is the main question—full protection to life and property first, and general and complete amnesty afterwards. The Herald correspondent says further:

> The policy of a general amnesty will probably be endorsed in the President's message and passed by the two-thirds vote. It was remarked by a prominent friend of the President yesterday that there was no occason whatever in perpetuating these disabilities, as they only serve to irritate, and the South could elect, if disposed, worse men than those now under disabilities. It is the opinion of well informed Southern men that the South, so far from making any factious war upon the administration, would meet any advance more than half way, and that an entire reconstruction of parties at the South would be the consequence of such a reconcilatory and liberal line of policy by the President.

A POPULAR MOVE.

President Grant struck a popular chord when he announced his determination to apply the Civil Service rules in the appointment to the Philadelphia postmastership. The papers have commented variously over it, but the gist of all is, that President Grant has done bravely and well. Among the comments aside from this central fact, are some that are exceedingly out of place, others that are captious, and still others that are wise and true. Of the first class are those that interpret President Grant's remarks as intended to snub the Pennsylvania officials who called on him. The spirit of his remarks forbids this interpretation. He clearly states, it is true, that he feels called upon, to make the appointment under the civil service regulations, but made it clear that were it not for a question of principle, he would cheerfully accord with their recommendation. We see in this no disposition to be discourteous to the gentlemen who called on him.

The New York World, noticing the occurrence under mention, applauds this particular instance of Presidential probity, but captiously inquires why it is not more broadly applied, intimating that successors to Cabinet Ministers, and Foreign Ministers should be appointed in this way. The World overlooks the very important fact, that all the offices to which it refers are provided for, in the civil service rules, in another way. In other words they are excepted from the operation of the rules. While Judge Richardson might make a good Secretary of the Treasury, and J. Bancroft Davis a successful Secretary of State, the fact remains that the civil service regulations provide for filling these offices by appointment, and not by promotion. The theory of the civil service regulations is that there are offices so entirely clerical in their character, that it is a question of ability of that kind, more than else, who shall fill it. On the other hand there are offices that require a broad range of culture, peculiar abilities, and thorough knowledge of human nature to administer. The Cabinet, Ministries and higher grade of Consulates require this. Hence the differences in the plans adopted in the two cases. President Grant very wisely proposes to do the best possible; where the civil service regulations afford him the opportunity, he will avail himself of them; where they do not, he will ignore them, and make the best appointments possible.

His remarks are also interpreted to mean that he will rid himself of the politicians. We interpret them differently. We do not presume he means to be led by the politicians, nor does he intend to ignore them. General Grant has had a peculiar experience in the Presidency, and we greatly mistake if he has not learned useful lessons the benefit of which will be given the country during the next four years. He started out with the prevailing military idea of ignoring those prominent in political life. He soon learned the error of this, and in certain ways confided to that element too implicitly. In this he has suffered. In the meantime he has steadily grown in popular confidence, and comes to his second term of office with a majority that puts him in the front rank, and lifts him above the influences to which he has felt himself in some degree amenable in the past. We greatly misappreciate the effect of these experiences if the result is not to cause him to take advice liberally, but to act independently. With the singularly discriminating mind of the President, we look for an excellent class of appointments during his next administration.

Still others accept the spirit of his utterances to mean that he proposes to give the country a careful administration, and one that shall be eminently fair to all parts of the country. In the first place, he proposes to conscientiously keep the pledges made by his party. In doing this, he can hardly avoid a course that will be exceedingly beneficent and popular. It is already rumored that his message to Congress will breathe a spirit of kindness toward the South. All the promises of amnesty, protection and aid, are to be realized. So at the North, he will vigorously conduct affairs, for the development of the country, and the increase of her prosperity. And one of the evidences of all this is, that in a prominent instance he applies reformatory ideas to appointments for prominent offices.

Many of these things must wait a gradual development. But one instance has been decided, and it has met with popular favor. The interpretation to be placed on these popular manifestations is, that the people desire the President to join effectively in the development of reform, and will support him. This alone makes him stronger than the politicians, and enables him to do as he will within reasonable limits. We interpret these expressions, also, to indicate a prevailing desire for reforms wherever they can be inaugurated. The people of this country really desire that Republican government shall be administered in as simple and direct a manner as possible. They desire as little of the intervention of intermediates as may be between themselves and those in power. The great merit of the civil rules is in this direction. As soon as an officer retires or is displaced, another, trained in his duties, is ready, and his precise merits and demerits can be accurately ascertained. While our appointing system opens the doors to all, and thus suits the genius of our people, yet it has the disadvantage of bringing forward persons with recommendations who may or may not be worthy of them. Thus it is that the people may incline to the civil service mode of making appointments, although it may result in establishing a class of office-holders whose tenures shall be for life.

GENERAL NEWS.

THE Naval Academy at Annapolis has 221 cadet midshipmen and 34 cadet engineers.

GREELEY carried two counties in Iowa over Greeley—Sac and Greene. His vote in the State will probably be 2,500.

THE Judge of the Washington Police Court has dismissed a case charging assault and battery against a street car conductor for putting out an unruly drunken passenger. It is held that a conductor has the right to use reasonable force to preserve order in such cases.

YEDO and Yokohama are now joined by a railroad, the first ever built in Japan. A new telegraph line is being rapidly constructed, and further evidence that no re-action has occurred in the liberal policy of that country is found in the edict of the Department of Religion, offering equal toleration to all religious bodies, in the departure of four priests to study European religions, and in the adoption at Yedo of the American system of Police Magistrates.

EMIGRATION from Germany to this country has been greatly aided by the course of German railroads in carrying emigrants at reduced rates and without charge for baggage. An official order has been issued by the Prussian Minister of Commerce forbidding the continuance of this liberal policy. This action comes close upon the recent announcement of our State Department, that the Prussian Government denied that it had discouraged emigration to the United States.

A NARROW gauge railway line of considerable pretensions has been projected along the Atlantic seaboard, and charters have been obtained in three States, with authority to consolidate, providing for a line of three feet gauge from Norfolk to Charleston via Wilmington, N. C. It is the ultimate intention to extend the line to Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, and both northern and southern capitalists are said to be earnestly interested in the enterprise, and it is added that surveys will soon be commenced.

AT LAST, we have the secret of the burning of the steamship Missouri. At the examination in New York on Saturday, a witness testified that a demijohn of spirits was knocking about loosely in a locker in the pantry. This locker was over the boiler, and the dry, tindery deck was beneath it. The demijohn was broken by its tumbling about; the spirits took fire from the boiler, and the flames spread over the ship. We know the rest; the pumps broke down; there were boats without oars, and other boats were swamped in their clumsy lowering away.

IT will be remembered that some time in May the revised Constitution of Switzerland was submitted to the people of that country and rejected by them. Since that time, however, popular opinion must have undergone a remarkable change, as, in the recent election for the National Council, the revisionists have won a brilliant victory. The result will be, of course that the Council will once more propose a revised Constitution to the people, so that a speedy revision of the Swiss Constitution may be expected. The principal purpose of the revision is to still further nationalize the army, and to consolidate the Cantons more closely together under a homogeneous system of national law.

GENERAL SHERMAN has under examination a compilation of all the laws and provisions of the constitution relating to the military establishment of the Union, explained and interpreted by a great number of judicial and executive decisions and opinions founded upon the constitution and laws, and with several chapters devoted to the relations of military officers, in the performance of duty, to the civil laws and authority of the country, as well as a chapter on the Indian question so far as it affects the army. The work has been prepared by Colonel Robert N. Scott, of the staff of the late General Halleck, for the authorized use of the army, as soon as the General-in-Chief shall sanction its introduction.

IN Ellenville, Ulster Co., N. Y., there is a large and handsome hotel built against the base of an over-hanging rock, which more than half served as a roof. The hotel has no back wall, being built against the perpendicular rock, in which the accidental large crevices are finished up and used as provision closets and little rooms, in which it is always delightfully cool. The kitchen is arranged at a spot where there is a spring coming out of the rock, the water of which is always sufficiently cool, so that ice water never need be used; however, nature has provided for ice also, as in a large cleft of the rock a quarter of a mile distant, the water which runs down in winter is gradually frozen up in large masses of ice, which are protected from solar heat almost as in an ice house, so there is a natural supply which lasts through the whole summer season.

HENRY WARD BEECHER delivered a striking sermon on the subject of labor. He said from the applications he received daily from young men out of work, it must be the general impression that he owns Central Park, Prospect Park, the Custom House, the Navy Yard and Post Office. He desired it to be known that he had no personal or political influence at Washington. Yet he acknowledged feeling sympathy with the 25,000 idle young men in New York who want to be bookkeepers and can't induce themselves to be anything else. He did not hold up his hands austerely and say, "Young men, go West" [great laughter], but mnay of them had rushed away from their fathers' farms before they had learned to work. Many of them were of a sort that would starve on a hundred acres of good land, be without shelter in a lumber yard, and be barefooted if they owned all the leather in the "swamp." The useless man simply lies when he declares he is as good as any other man. Mr. Beecher's text was Ephesians, 4th chapter, 28th verse.

THE opinion that the recent enormous rise in the price of coal in England was produced by "cornering," and not as a legitimate consequence of greater demand than supply, has become so general in South Lancashire that a great lowering of prices is confidently expected there, and large buyers are holding off from making fresh contracts. The coal-owners blame the Unionists for having so far advanced the rate of wages that it became impossible to sell the coal at the old prices; but the profits of the coal-masters, according to a coal-owner and consumer, who has published a letter in the Times, are enormous. At the pit's mouth, in the neighborhood of Wigan (in Lancashire), coal has advanced from 130 to 320 per cent. in less than a year; while, in the same time, the colliers' wages have been advances only 40 per cent., and the other workmen have had no rise. The result of this is that "one small proprietor has realized this year £100,000; a small company, which last year divided £28,000 among its shareholders, has this year paid them £220,000; a company has returned its shareholders the whole of their capital in two years; and other private firms are estimated to have netted each from £200,000 to £600,000 within the last twelve months."

A BOSTON correspondent of the Daily News (London) mentions something about the San Juan award which is important and may be true. Three experts, he says, recommended the middle channel as a compromise, but, under the terms of the treaty, chose the Haro Channel. The reports of these gentlemen have not been published; they were expressly prepared for the information and guidance of the Emperor William, the arbitrator. The Daily News, in its observations on the statement, says that the fact that three experts should have fixed on the middle channel as the fairest of the three shows the shrewdness of the American Commissioners in refusing to leave it open to the arbitrator, and makes it all the more unfortunate for England that her diplomatists did not act on the expressed opinion of Sir Richard Pakenham, and claim from the first the middle channel as literally intended by the words of the treaty. (It is said, by the way, that all three experts were not unanimously in favor of the American claim, Herr Goldschmit's opinion being neutral.) It must be gratifying to the American Government to find its course thus highly complimented by Mr. Gladstone's semi-official organ. There is not, and never has been, any disposition on the part of England to set aside the San Juan award. When an international question is left to an arbitrator his decision is final.

HERE is something for all surgeons to read and admire. It comes from California. In 1869, Luther Corey, in Santa Cruz county, had his arm broken in two places above the elbow. One of the fractures knitted and healed; the other, owing to a splint of the bone being between the ends of the fracture, did not. After suffering great pain, Mr. Corey went to San Francisco, and surgeons there opened the flesh on his arm, and cut out the callous part from off the ends of the bones, pressing the ends together and binding the arm in splints. So they remained for eighteen months, but still the bones did not knit, and the muscles of the arm became shriveled up and useless. Then Mr. Corey applied to Dr. Lane, of San Francisco, who forthwith performed the prettiest little job of surgical workmanship conceivable. He opened the arm, sprung out the ends of the bones, and, cutting off the callous parts, he beveled the ends of the bones, so that each would lap a little over the other. He then riveted them together with a silver wire, and set the arm in a case. The bone then knit and healed, leaving the arm two inches shorter. Mr. Corey now uses his arm at his work, and, with the limb useful again, is once more a tip-top sawyer.

THE Sultan is as enervated as can be—scarcely the shadow of a man. He is fickle in love and friendship, exposed to every influence, and listening to the most absurd insinuations. Thus, he is the greatest obstacle to any decided, consistent, and energetic policy. He depends altogether upon his mother, or, rather, her favorite, a most beautiful, amiable Georgian slave.

ONE of the practical ways in which Henry Ward Beecher's congregation wished to show their sovereign contempt for the Woodhull-and-Claflin slanders was to insist on raising his salary $5,000 a year. He peremptorily refused, it is said, to have this done, and laughingly remarked that his friends seemed anxious to make him invulnerable to vulgar abuse from irresponsible sources, by covering him with an armor of bank notes. Mr. Beecher was never so popular as he is to-day; and Theodore Tilton's Golden Age has received nearly a thousand new subscribers since the publication of the assault upon himself and his family.

FIVE years ago it was a crime punishable with death for any person to make any drawing, painting, bust or resemblance of the Mikado of Japan. By papers from that country we learn that the august Son of Heaven has had his photograph taken, and that copies are selling at Yeddo and Yokohama for fifty cents each. Less than a year ago, a photographer secretly took a negative of a great public ceremonial at Yeddo, in which the Mikado appeared. The entire Kingdom was in a panic at once, and the unhappy artist was obliged to destroy the negative and every copy he had taken from it. Civilization takes long steps sometimes.

THE ex-Empress Eugenie, at her late fete at Chiselhurst on Friday last, was honored by the presence of many visitors from Paris, who came with their friendly compliments. More significant than these friendly compliments were the bouquets received from a number of French regiments serving at Versailles. In these bouquets we have the explanation of the rigid exclusion by President Thiers of the Bonapartes from France, and of his vigilance of the French army. Paris sighs for the trade and the splendors, and the army for the glory of the Empire, and there is a tradition among the exiled Bonapartes that after the Republic comes the Empire. But nous verrons says President Thiers.

LOUIS L. TODD, a respectable insurance man of New York, has brought suit for $20,000 damages against J. O. Quigley, broker at No. 20 New street, for inducing his wife to leave him and assume improper relations with himself. The parties were married in 1855, and lived in harmony until Todd went to board at a house, where Mrs. Todd became acquainted with the defendant. In 1870 she abandoned her husband without explanation, and it was several months before he could ascertain her residence. Finally he saw her walking in the street with Quigley, and discovered that they were boarding together at a hotel in Jersey City. Quigley was arrested, and after spending two nights in jail, was released on $6,000.

EX-PRESIDENT JOHNSON expects to take up his residence in Nashville permanently. Many of his old personal associates about Greenville have been broken up, and many of those with whom he grew up have gone away, while at the capital of his State he will doubtless, within a year's time, meet with a dozen old acquaintances, where he would encounter one in the remote but pleasant little East Tennessee village, where his earlier years were spent. The ex-President is in good health, with the exception of a cold, contracted during the canvass. He looks to be in the vigor of health, and wears the good-humored aspect of a man in whom there would seem to be a good many years of useful service yet. For his age and wear and tear, he is to-day the youngest man in the State. So the Nashville Banner says.

THE Queen of England has reversed the gallantry of Sir Walter Raleigh, who spread his rich plush coat out for his sovereign to tread upon. The Duke of Sutherland is having a shaft sunk on his estate to improve some mines, and being told of these operations while there, the Queen expressed a desire to see them. The Duke escorted her thither, and while Her Majesty was standing on the bank inspecting the work, it commenced to rain. A few yards off one of the men, named Cooper, was sawing some timber for the shaft, and heedless of the rain, continued his work without a coat. Presently he was surprised to feel a light touch, and on looking up perceived the Duke, who laid a costly rug over his shoulders, at the same time exclaiming "The Queen requested me to present you with her own rug; you may keep it and wear it."

CHAS. DUDLEY WARNER, writing to the Hartford (Conn.) Courant of Henry Howard Brownell, the poet, who died there a few days ago, relates the manner of Brownell's acquaintance with Admiral Farragut, which led to a life-long attachment between the two. After the capture of New Orleans (and before the "River Fight" was composed), Mr. Brownell amused himself by turning into verse the terse "General Order" of the Admiral before the battle. It was an admirable piece of verse, and yet it was almost a literal transcript of the brave "Order." Being printed anonymously in the Evening Press, it met the Admiral's eye, and Mrs. Farragut wrote the editor, saying that it had touched her husband even to tears, and asking the favor of the author's name. It was given, and a correspondence ensued, which soon led to a solicitation that Mr. Brownell should go to sea with the Admiral on his personal staff. He accepted and went to sea, and became one of the heroes of Mobile Bay, and the chronicler of "The Bay Fight."

WILLIAM H. SEWARD'S WILL.

The Deceased Statesman's Name Signed for the Last Time.

The following is a copy of the last will and testament of the late William H. Seward, made from the original. The will is in the handwriting of the testator. He signed, folded and placed it in an envelope, and wrote his name on the envelope, and never signed his name after that. The witness, W. L. Freeman, is or was a barber in Washington and a colored man.

The will reads as follows:

In the name of God, Amen.

I, William H. Seward, of Auburn, do make, ordain, publish and declare this my last will and testament; hereby revoking all former wills by me made.

First—I devise, grant and bequeath in fee simple in equal shares to my three sons, Augustus, Frederick and William, the house and real estate in Auburn in which I dwell.

Second—I give, grant, devise and bequeath in fee simple absolute all my remaining estate, real and personal, in equal shares, to my three sons and my adopted daughter, Olive F. Risley, daughter of my old friend, Harrison A. Risley.

Third—I appoint my son, William H. Seward, and my adopted daughter, the said Olive, executor and executrix.

WILLIAM H. SEWARD. (L. S.)

Signed, sealed, published and declared by the said testator, William H. Seward, as and for his last will and testament, in the presence of us and of each of us, who, at his request and in the presence of him and of each other, have subscribed our names as witnesses at Pekin, in China, this 5th day of November, 1870.

THE annual report of the Registrar-General of England, just issued, gives the death rate of the United Kingdom for 1870 as 22.9 per 1,000 inhabitants, while the birth rate was 35 per 1,000 and the marriage rate (persons married) only 16 per 1,000. France shows a death rate for 1870 of 28.8, a birth rate of 26.1, and a marriage rate of only 12.4 to the 1,000. Austria shows a death rate of 29.2, a birth rate of 40.5 and a marriage rate of 19.4 per 1,000 in the same year.

Most Important Notice.

We publish below the testimonial of Mr. James Irvin, one of our best known citizens, and a gentleman whose word may be confidently relied on, to the efficacy of Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup, a cheap medicine for coughs and recent lung diseases, which Dr. K. has prepared expressly to meet the thousands of cases that are heard coughing daily through our streets, every one of which could be cured in less than forty-eight hours, and at a cost of 75 cents. Who would cough through seventy-five hours at a cent an hour, when Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup is as sure to cure them as night follows day.

DR. KEYSER:—You have asked my opinion about your cough medicine, and I can cheerfully say that I have used your Pectoral Syrup on one occasion during last spring. I thought at one time that I was surely going to have some serious pulmonary disease, as I coughed up large quantities of matter. I found my disease would not yield to anything else, as I had tried various remedies and several of the best doctors without benefit. After the first dose of your Pectoral, I received quite a relief, and had I not used the whole bottle until I was entirely cured.

ORDINANCES.

[No. 166.]

AN ORDINANCE—Providing for the Equalization of the valuation of taxable property.

WHEREAS, By an Act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled "An Act giving power to the Councils of the city of Pittsburgh to equalize the valuation of the taxable property, property within the city, for city purposes," approved the 28th day of March, 1872, it is enacted that the Councils of the city of Pittsburgh, either by themselves, or by their proper officers or agents shall have power to alter, revise or equalize the valuation of the taxable property within the corporate limits of the city; now therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That it shall be the duty of the City Assessor, immediately after the passage of this Ordinance, to prepare and record, in a book or books, to be provided for that purpose, a true and complete list of all persons made taxable for city purposes, arranged alphabetically by wards, with a detailed statement of the property of which they are the owners, or are liable for the payment of taxes thereon, as the valuation thereof, as the same now appears in the official records in the County Commissioners' office for the year 1872, and annually thereafter. The said Assessor shall then make out and deliver to each property holder his, her or their agent a full and complete list of the various items of property they recorded, of which he, she or they may be the owners or agents, or are liable for the payment of taxes thereon; when the preparation of the lists or schedule herein specified shall have been completed, the Assessor shall advertise the facts in the official newspapers of the city, and it shall be the duty of all property holders who may fail to receive lists as above provided, to call at the office of the City Assessor and obtain duplicates thereof, which shall be furnished when applied for.

SEC. 2. After obtaining said lists or schedules it shall be the duty of all owners of property or their agents or representatives, to examine the same, and having deducted therefrom all property for which they are not as owners or agents, or in any way liable for the payment of taxes thereon, they shall then proceed to affix thereto the actual cash value of the several items specified in the lists thus corrected according to the best of their judgment and belief. The lists shall be returned to the Assessor's office within sixty days from the time said lists have been delivered or advertised to be ready for delivery.

SEC. 3. The Assessor shall then transcribe and make an alphabetical classification by wards of the lists returned to them in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing section in such manner as will facilitate the examination of said lists, arranging under proper heads the valuations affixed by property holders or their agents, as well as the official valuation at the office of the County Commissioners. The city Assessor is hereby authorized and empowered to employ such clerical assistance as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this ordinance, subject at all times to the control of the Board of Revision herein after provided for said Board, being duly authorized and empowered to fix and determine the amount of compensation to be paid for such service as well as the additional compensation to be paid the Assessor for the performance of the duties hereby required of him.

SEC. 4. In every case where any person shall neglect or refuse to make out and deliver to the City Assessor a statement of the taxable property as required under this ordinance. The Assessor shall in every such case proceed to ascertain and determine the value of said property according to the best information available, and he is hereby authorized to examine on oath or affirmation any person or persons whom he may suppose to have a knowledge of the value of such property. When the Assessor shall have thus fixed the actual value of such property he shall insert the name in the alphabetical classification provided for in the preceding section, and write opposite the names of the owner or owners, "Made no return," and include the same in the general list, prepared for the Board of Revision.

SEC. 5. The qualified voters of each ward shall meet at their respective places for holding elections on the First (1st) Tuesday of December next, and triennially thereafter, and there elect by ballot, one person, a resident of the ward and qualified to serve as a member of the Select or Common Council of the City, who shall, when duly elected, become a member of the Board of Revision, to revise, alter and equalize the valuation of taxable property, and shall hold office for and during the term of three years, and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. The Board of Revision thus elected shall meet on the second Tuesday of January next succeeding their election, and after having taken and subscribed an oath or affirmation before the City Controller, that they will well and faithfully discharge the duties devolved on them, shall organize by electing one of their number as chairman. The City Assessor shall be Secretary of the Board.

SEC. 6. The Board of Revision shall then proceed systematically to examine the returns made by owners of property or their agents and representatives in accordance with the preceding sections of this Ordinance, together with the prices affixed by the City Assessor, when no returns have been made, and, in order to arrive at the true cash value of property, it may in the judgment of the Board be necessary to raise or diminish the prices affixed thereto, the said Board of Revision is hereby authorized and required to make such increase or reduction and to alter and amend said lists until they shall in their judgment have arrived at the true cash value of all the property subject to taxation for city purposes. The Board shall have power to examine, under oath, all persons whom they may desire to summon for the purpose of ascertaining the true value of property.

SEC. 7. When the Board of Revision shall have altered and amended the lists of all the taxable property so as to arrive at its true cash value, they shall then add up and ascertain the aggregate amount of the value of the entire taxable property within the corporate limits of the city, which sum shall be divided by the aggregate value of the taxable property of the city as the same appears by the official records in the office of the County Commissioners at the time the said record is transcribed for the use of the Board, and the quotient thus obtained shall be a common divisor by which the actual cash value of the property of each and every property-holder shall be divided, and the amounts resulting from this division shall be the equalized valuations of all taxable property, and the levies and assessments for the year 1873 shall be made upon the equalized valuations, and the same shall be and remain the per lawful valuations for the purposes of taxation until legally altered and amended; Provided, however, that in determining the equalized valuations of property in all amounts exceeding one hundred and not exceeding three thousand dollars, the multiple of ten, which shall apportion most closely to the sum ascertained as above specified, and in all amounts exceeding three thousand dollars the multiple of one hundred, which approximates most closely to the sum thus ascertained, shall be taken and assumed to be the correct equalized value; and Provided further, that the aggregate equalized valuation of property shall not increase the total valuation beyond the aggregate assessed for county purposes within the city.

SEC. 8. The compensation to be paid to members of the Board of Revision shall hereafter be fixed by an Ordinance of the City Council.

Ordained and enacted into a law in Councils this 26th day of October, A. D. 1872.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, November 19, 1872.

Money matters in this city continue to grow easier; the demand becomes less and the supply increases. The pressure at the banks to-day was much less than the average during the past two weeks, and the applications for out-door relief were noticeably smaller. Business, although fair, is still being contracted, and business men generally are not solicitous of orders where any additional risk is incurred. On all sides hedging in is apparent, and the universal desire seems to be safety without profit, rather than uncertainty and risk with the promise of it. Unless something is done, and done quickly, in the way of increasing the circulating medium, thus giving assurance that the trouble experienced in manipulating the trade of the country during the last sixty days is not to be again repeated during the ensuing winter, the business aggregate of the next three months will be but a meagre one, and nothing like what it would have been had the late emergency in money matters, which the country has just passed through, been anticipated, boldly met and courageously provided for. Inaction is sometimes prudent and productive of good, but when on a march of prosperity, such as the people of this country were moving on to, be interrupted for the want of financial provisions, it is a mistake that a purveyor ought not to make. Throughout the West the cry continues to go up to Washington for the re-issue of the forty-four millions of retired greenbacks. The Milwaukee Journal of Commerce contains an able article from the pen of John Nagro, one of the most prominent merchants of the West, in favor of the re-issue. By him the subject is handled carefully, critically, and to all fair men conclusively. It ought to command attention at Washington, and the hope generally expressed by business men here is that it will do so.

NEW YORK, November 19, 1872.

Money stringent, loaning at from 7 gold to ⅛, with a large portion of the business at 1-16. Mercantile paper is quoted at 12@15 per cent. The banks have been calling in loans to supply the outward flow of currency, and there seems to be no immediate relief for the future. Sterling is heavy and lower, closing at 108@108⅛ for 60 days, and 109⅝@110 for sight. Gold was more active, fluctuating between 113⅛@113¾, closing firm at 113⅜@113⅝. Loans were from 1-64 for 7 per cent for carrying. Clearings $46,000,000. The Government disbursed $135,000. Governments dull and a fraction lower. State bonds dull and neglected. Stocks were dull and weak. The market seems to decline without the assistance of the Bears, prices seeming at the lower range. The outside Atlantic Mail and Erie fluctuations were from ¼ to ⅜, mostly on the downward turn. Atlantic Mail declined 2 per cent. on the confiscation of the steamship Columbia for smuggling cigars. Erie advanced from 52⅛ to 53⅛, and afterwards declined to 52⅛. The market closed dull and weak. The Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company, instead of issuing ten millions convertible bonds, will issue consolidated mortgage to the amount of $48,000,000, to take up as they fall due. Thirty-five millions of the mortgages are on the main line, leased roads and branches. The proceeds of the remainder will be applied to defraying the cost of the new roads built last year, and to completing other roads. The bonds will bear 7 per cent. coin interest. Three and a half millions of the new bonds have been taken in this city at 90. A like amount will be marketed next year. The remainder will be reserved to meet contingencies.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, November 19, 1872.

There was an increased number of horses out to-day, and business generally was more active in consequence, but there is still plenty of room for improvement. Some few commodities have appreciated in value on account of a temporary scarcity, but as a general thing there is but little change to note in values.

APPLES—The demand is improving, and with a limited supply prices are better ranging from $1,50@2,50 per bbl. according to quality.

APPLE BUTTER—45@50 cts per gallon.

BEANS—$2,50@3 per bushel.

BAGGING—Penn mill, two bushel, 38 cts, two and one-half bushels, 45; three bushels, 53; Allegheny two bushel, 36 cts.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Is quoted at $8@8½ per bbl. or 4 to 4½c per lb.

BUTTER—There is a very good demand for the better grades, and prime to choice roll is selling readily at 25 to 28. Low grade butter is as dull as ever.

BROOM CORN—There is a fair jobbing trade, but prices are unchanged; 4 to 7 cts, as to quality.

CANDLES—Mould, 12; Stearine, 15; Star, 22.

CHESTNUTS—$3,50@4 per bushel.

CARBON OIL—The demand has fallen off, but prices are still maintained; 23¾@23½ for round lots—1@2c additional in a small way.

CIDER—Is dull, but nominally unchanged; $5 @6 per bbl.

COUNTRY LARD—7¼@8½ cts. per lb.

CRANBERRIES—Sackett's and Carey's Belle Berries, $14@15 per bbl. common, $10@12.

CONCENTRATED LYE—$8 per case.

DRIED FRUIT—Continues very quiet, small sales at 4 to 6c per lb. for apples, and 8 to 9 for prime halve peaches.

CHEESE—The best brands of Goshen are still quoted at 16½@17 cents. Ohio Sweitzer, 15½ @16½.

EGGS—Strictly fresh, guaranteed as such, 32 cents. Pickled are being sold all the way from 25 to 30.

FEATHERS—No. 1 live geese may be quoted at 72 to 75 to the trade and 3 to 5c additional for smaller lots.

FLOUR—There is a fair local trade, and some inquiry for shipment. Spring wheat flours, $7,50@8; and red winter, $8@8,50. Rye Flour, $5,25@5,50.

GRAIN—Trade continues quiet, but as stocks are light and receipts small prices are maintained. Wheat, in the absence of sales, may be quoted at $1,60@1,65 for fair to prime red; $1,70@1,75 for amber, and $1,80@1,85 for white. Oats continue dull, but an increased demand is anticipated; prices are without quotable change, ranging from 38@41 for mixed to prime white. Shelled Corn is in light supply, but there is not much inquiry for it; 56@58 are still regarded as the ruling quotations. New Ear Corn, 48@50. Rye continues quiet, and in the absence of sales, we continue former quotations, 78@80. There is little or nothing doing in Barley in this market; brewers are generally are buying in the west.

GROCERIES—Trade is improving; the number of new orders coming in is not very large but as there are more teams out, the facilities for handling goods are better, and nearly all the leading houses are busily engaged in filling old ones. Sugars are still reported strong, while Coffees, on the other hand, are easier; and the low and medium grades are offering at a slight reduction.

SUGARS—Granulated, 13¾; Crushed, 13¾c Powdered, 13¾; A Coffee, 13; B, 12¾; Ex. C 12¾; C., 12½; Chespeake Ex. C., 12¼; Molasses Sugars, 8¼@10; Porto Rico, 10¾@11; Demarara, 11¼@11¾.

COFFEE—Choice Rio 23; Prime 22; Good 21; Fair 20; Java 25 to 26; Mocha 32. Roasted in lb. packages 25; loose 24½.

RICE—Carolina, 8¼@9; Rangoon, 7@7¾; Patna 8.

SPICES—Grain Pepper, 23; Allspice, 18; Cassia, 40; Clover, 30; Nutmegs, $1,25.

HAY—Is in good demand and firmer, though not quotably higher; baled on wharf or track, $25@30, according to quality.

HONEY—Sales 25@30 cts per lb.

LARD OIL—No. 1 winter strained 78@80 cts. and scarce.

ONIONS—In good supply and quoted at $2,50 @3 per bushel.

POTATOES—Prime Peach Blows, by the car load, 70 cts per bushel; small lots in store, 75. Sweet firmer but unchanged; $3,50@4 per bbl.

POULTRY—Live chickens, 50@60 cents per pair; dressed, 14@15 cts. per lb.

PROVISIONS—Plain Shoulders, 7¾; Sugar cured Shoulders, 10c; Breakfast Bacon, 14c; Rib Sides, 11; Short Rib Sides, 11¼; Clear Sides, 12; Sugar Cured Hams, 17½c; Dried Beef, 18 c. Lard, in tierces, 9½c; half bbls, 10½c; pails, 11c. Mess Pork, $15,50; Beef Tongues, 7,50 per dozen.

RAGS—Quoted at 3¼@3¾ cts.

SEEDS—Flax Seed is in demand at $1,95 per bushel.

TALLOW—Unchanged at 8 to 8½.

WHISKY—Highwines firmer and higher; we now quote at 93@95 cts per gallon.

WOOL—Trade in this section of the country has been very much restricted the past week; the market is considerably excited in consequence of the Boston fire, and dealers and producers are apart in their views. The latter, in view of the large amount of Wool that was destroyed, estimated at 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 lbs. together with the fact that even prior to the conflagration, there was an increased demand and a stronger feeling, are holding their Wools at an advance of from 5 to 8 cts per lb; dealers, as yet, are unwilling to pay the advance, being apprehensive that the reports in regard to the quantity destroyed in Boston may be exaggerated, and then it is alleged that there has been no advance in woolen goods to correspond with increased prices demanded for the raw material. Thus, it will be seen, as we have already intimated, that the market is in a very unsettled condition, and it is not likely that there will be much done for a week or two to come, or until prices become more settled. At present, choice clips are held in first hands at 60 and even 65 cts., but, so far as we can learn, there are no buyers here above 55@57.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, November 19, 1872.

The Crude market continues dull and unsettled, but an improved demand soon is anticipated. The "agency" organization, gotten up in the interest of the producers, has not as yet been fully organized, and consequently is not in working order. The agency price at Parker remains unchanged at $4,55 per bbl., but operators who are not in sympathy with it, are offering at $4,20 @4,25. Refined is dull also, but unchanged; 27 delivered in Philadelphia, and 23¼@23½ cents on cars here. Exporters have not been buying for a couple of weeks, which is regarded as a bare movement to force down prices; thus far they have been unsuccessful, and the indications are that the refiners will hold off just as long as they (the exporters) can.

Oil barrels remain firm but unchanged; city make, $2,15; country, $2,05@2,10.

Philadelphia Iron Market.

Edward Samuel in his last circular, under date of 16th, says: In American Pig Iron sales in different districts are reported at such widely different figures that quotations should be considered nominal. The best makes are held at about quoted figures, but those not so well known are offered at considerably lower ones. The tone of the market is weak, and it is generally conceded that there is but little chance of a recovery this year. Scotch iron has fallen to 105@110s, Glasgow from 130s, and the English market is ported as weak and unsettled. Old rails are in full supply here, but with little demand, the foreign price, however, remains comparatively firm and too high (£8 C F and I being the quotation), to admit of shipment to this side. Scrap iron is offered freely for future shipment, but few buyers here have as yet availed themselves of the low ruling price. In manufactured iron the Philadelphia Mills have again reduced the base price, it now being 4½ per lb. The general market is weak and unsettled.

Below are the closing prices of standard qualities:

American No. 1 Foundry Pig, at furnace	$50 00@50 00
" No. 2 "	48 00@49 00
" No. 3 Forge	47 00@48 00
" No. 4 White and Mottled	47 00@48 00
Scotch Pig (cargo lots, for shipment)	47 50@49 00

Up to noon but two small sales have been effected. Medium hogs are hard to sell, and there is difficulty in shipping them on account of the snow blockade. This makes buyers indifferent.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, November 19.—Business is fairly active with commission houses and jobbers. The cold weather has materially increased the demand for flannels, blankets, and woolens, which are selling at the advance established last week. RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point, with but little over four feet in the channel last evening. There is no improvement to note in business at the landing, and what is worse still, the prospects for the immediate future are not very bright; it is true, the horse disease is abating, but by the time the horses get in condition to resume work, the probability is there will be no water. At best we cannot expect navigation to continue longer than another month, as the river usually freezes over during the latter part of December.

There have been no arrivals since the date of our last report, and the Julia No. 2, for Zanesville, was the only departure.

The Juniata, Capt. C. L. Brennan, is announced to take her departure for Cincinnati to-day, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind.

The Messenger is filling up steadily for St. Louis and all intermediate points.

The Rover started down yesterday to assist the Iron Mountain up with her tow of ore.

The Mollie Ebert arrived at New Orleans on Monday.

A St. Louis dispatch, under date of Monday, states that the report that the new locks are repaired is incorrect. It was expected that the Kilgour and Parker would get through the canal on Monday night.

—The work of protecting the river bank from caving has been going on for several weeks past just above St. Louis, on the Missouri side, under the supervision of General Reynolds. A powerful dredge-boat is busy, and pile-drivers are sinking piles along the front of the bank, forming a line parallel with the shore, after the completion of which brush and stone will be thrown in to form a bank above the water line, thus preventing the shore from abrasion by the current. The work, when completed, will form a levee which could easily be made available for land purposes, while it will at the same time check the caving of the banks.

—A Louisville special to the Cincinnati Commercial under date of Sunday says: The Parker is in the canal, awaiting the opening of the new locks, which are closed, and the water drawn off. A coffer dam has been built above the locks to repair the damage to the middle locks, which could not be closed, owing to the difficulty at the bottom on the sills on which the gates roll. The lower gate is open and a dam built above it below the middle gates. The old locks are open and in working order.

—The tow-boat Storm No. 2, last Thursday, fell into the hands of the United States Marshal, at Wheeling, after running into the steamer William H. Harrison at Cowburg Bar (below Parkersburg) sinking a barge of coal belonging to Kibble & Barstow, in tow of the Harrison. The owners gave bond before United States Commissioner J. P. Rogers, and went on their way rejoicing. This is second scene in act one of the case in which the W. H. Harrison was attached a week or so ago.

—The worst affected man among those interested in the steamer Katie is Mr. Colomb, who owned the bar, for which he paid $27,000 cash, and on which he had an insurance of $30,000. The raising of the boat and the bar at the same time will prevent the recovery of the insurance. It is hinted that Colomb & Brooks would have been willing to pay a little extra premium to have assured a final resting place for the Kate at the bottom of the river.

—The Memphis Avalanche says: Andy Robinson, formerly master and late clerk of the St. Marys, was all topsy turvy yesterday. He stoped off his vessel evening before last to go through to Ohio by rail, to consummate a connubial alliance and be ready for the boat on her arrival at Cincinnati. The boat's destruction played hob with the whole business, and was enough to upset anybody.

—Mr. Alex. Stewart, late clerk of the steamer John Kilgour, died at his residence, in Louisville, on Sunday last. He had been confined to his room for several months with consumption. Capt. Stewart was well known to steamboatmen generally, he having been connected with the river for a number of years.

—The St. Louis Republican of Sunday says: Capt S. B. Coulson of the Western arrived yesterday by rail from Sioux City. He is in doubt of the steamer Sioux City being able to get back to Sioux City from Grand river before the ice sets in.

—All the Pomeroy coal miners are on a strike. Owners of mines will not pay the advance asked so long as the horse disease prevails, as they can find no market for their coal as long as they have no means of hauling it.

—The bill of sale of the Emilie LaBarge, dated Nov. 7th has been filed at the St. Louis custom House. James W. Gunsolils sells ⅛, D. H. Silver ⅛, Thomas W. Shields ⅛, to the Emilie LaBarge Transportation Company for $20,000.

—The wrecker, Eckert, is at work recovering cotton from the sunken steamer St. Marys. It is doubtful whether she can be raised, having settled some six inches.

—Nell Boker, clerk of the steamer Cieburne, was stabbed by a vicious darkey on the last trip of the boat.

—The Wild Cat and Hawkeye passed Louisville on Sunday night en route for this port, with tows of iron ore.

—Capt. W. H. Pierce, formerly Hull Inspector of Cincinnati underwriters, died at Longview, Saturday, aged 59 years.

—Capt. John Thorn of the wharfboat at Rockport was married last week to Miss Lottie Henderson of the same place.

—The Key West remains at Sioux City for the winter.

NO CHARGE UNTIL CURED.

Syphilis, Stricture, Orchitis, Hernia and all Urinary diseases are cured in the shortest possible time that will insure permanent relief. Medicines supplied at the Institute. A medical pamphlet relating to private diseases sent in sealed envelope for two stamps. All communications confidential.

This Institute was established for the express purpose of supplying the afflicted with scientific and reliable treatment, and is not to be classed with the numerous quacks and impostors that infest all large cities. The proprietors have made the treatment of Private and special diseases the study of their lives, and can refer to thousands all over the country who have been benefitted and cured by their treatment. No matter how difficult or long standing your case may be, it is curable, after a personal examination they will frankly tell you; remember, they have cured many cases given up by other physicians.

Patients treated by mail or express, but where possible, it is best to visit the city for personal consultation, or address:

HOME NEWS.

A Youthful Thief.

A boy named John Butler, only sixteen years of age, was arrested yesterday by Detective Scott, on a charge of the larceny of a coat, vest and watch, valued at sixty dollars. The information was made before the Mayor by Hezekiah Hilton. The parties are both colored and live on Pasture street. The stolen property was all recovered at a pawn shop, where they had been left by the thief.

Consequences of Playing Truant.

Thomas Stewart, a boy fourteen years of age, who lives on Webster street, Second ward, Allegheny, should have gone to school yesterday afternoon, and had he done so, his limbs might both have been sound to-day. But instead of going to school, Tommy played truant, and went to the railroad crossing and climbed on the tender of a locomotive. The fireman noticed him, and ran at him with a poker, telling him to get down. In his haste the boy fell and broke his leg. He was taken up and carried to his home. Moral—When playing truant don't climb on locomotives in motion.

Doubly Fined.

A man named Terrence McManus was arrested on the South Side, on Monday afternoon, and had a hearing before Deputy Mayor Barker, who committed him to the Work House for thirty days for disorderly conduct. He was brought to this side and placed in the Diamond lockup. While coming over McManus abused Officer McGovern very severely, and yesterday morning Mayor Blackmore added another fifty dollars to the fine, and in default committed him for an additional thirty days. Yesterday morning he was taken to the West Penn Railroad depot, in order to be shipped to Claremont. A moment after leaving, some friends of the prisoner appeared at the Mayor's office and paid his fine of one hundred dollars and cost. A messenger was sent to the depot, and arrived just in time to save Terrence from a useless trip to Claremont.

Christian Temperance Alliance.

The Wilkinsburg auxiliary to the Allegheny County Christian Temperance Alliance met according to announcement in M. E. Church. Rev. S. M. Henderson in the Chair. Rev. Wesley Smith opened the meeting on Monday by prayer; after which the Rev. G. G. Westfall addressed the meeting "on the duty of the church in the Temperance reform."

This gentleman was followed by Rev. W. A. Davidson, D. D., of East Liberty, assigning reasons why every professor of religion should sign the temperance pledge. Rev. Mr. Marshall, of the Benton congregation, made some very appropriate remarks. A vote of thanks was tendered to the Speakers, and on motion Rev. S. Henderson and Rev. Wesley Smith were selected as delegates to the State Temperance Convention, to meet in Pittsburgh on the 10th of December, after which the meeting closed.

A Fire and an Accident.

About half past eleven o'clock yesterday forenoon an alarm of fire was sounded from box 53, corner of Third and Chestnut streets, Allegheny. The alarm was occasioned by a slight fire in the house of Adam Swartz, on Third street, and was extinguished before the Department arrived.

As the Friendship engine on Arch street was starting to go to the fire, a boy named Frank Boder, about fourteen years of age, and who lived immediately across the street from the engine house, ran over and took hold of the rope with several other men and boys, for the purpose of drawing the machine to the fire. At the corner of Federal street the boy fell down and the heavy steamer passed over him. When picked up it was found that his collar bone was broken. Dr. Thorn was called and attended the injured boy who was afterwards removed to his home.

Accommodation Trains.

During the prevalence of the horse disease special trains on the Allegheny Valley Railroad will run as follows from the Union Depot to Lawrenceville. Trains will leave Union Depot for Forty-third sreet station at 6:20, 6:50, 7:40 9:30, 10:30, 11:50 A. M., 12:50, 2:10, 3:20, 4:35, 5:10, 5:55, 8:20, 9:10, 10:50, P. M. Leave Forty-third street station for Union Depot at 5:50, 6:25, 8:10, 8:45, 10:05 11:10, A. M; 12:10, 1:45, 2:30, 3:45, 4:45, 5:30 7:55 P. M. Trains leaving Union Depot at 7:40, 12:50 and 9:10 and Forty-third street station at 6:55, 4:45 and 7:55, do not stop between Union Depot and Forty-third street: all other trains will stop at Twenty-eighth, Thirty-third, Thirty-eighth and Forty-third streets. The above trains will run daily, Sunday excepted. On Sunday trains will leave corner Pike and Eleventh streets for Sharpsburg bridge at 9.30, 10:30, 11:30 A. M.; 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 7:30, 9:30, P. M.; returning, leave Sharpsburg bridge for Pittsburgh at 10, 11, 12, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8 and 10 o'clock.

The Nuptial Tie.

Last evening a goodly company on pleasure bent, assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James M. McEwen, No. 15 Gum street, Pittsburgh, to witness the marriage celebration between Mazie E. their eldest daughter, and Mr. Charles W. Marsh, formerly of Rochester, New York. The ceremony took place at half past seven o'clock, the Rev. S. F. Scovel officiating in a very graceful and happily impressive manner, after which the young couple with their friends spent a pleasant hour in social intercourse, and the festivities incidental to such a felicitious episode. Shortly before nine o'clock, the bridal pair accompanied by a few friends started on their wedding tour, which embraces an extended journey eastward. Our young friends thus enter upon their hymenial pathway amid the kindliest regards, and most sincere good wishes of all who know them and knowing have learned to highly esteem; and in mingling our felicitations with others, we would add the hope that the future may come to them as they deserve, all gilded with sunshine and unmarred by the faintest evidence of "the shadow or the storm."

Park Savings Bank.

We refer to the card of this institution for savings, in our advertising columns, for the purpose of calling public attention to it as one of our young, but sound and safe depositories for savings or surplus funds. We say it is sound and safe for the double reason that its stockholders are among our safest class of men, many of them wealthy, and all of them individually liable for the obligations of the bank, and have therefore, for their own security, as well as that of its depositors, selected the best of their number for Directors, and the Directors from like considerations of prudence have elected Mr. James Rafferty, of North avenue, for President; Mr. A. N. Burchfield, for Cashier, and Mr. M. Whitmore, for Assistant Cashier. Under such direction and such officers it seems to us perfectly safe to predict the ever increasing popularity and success of the Park Savings Bank. Its location, moreover, at 192 Federal street, will be found most convenient for the business men of Allegheny to avail themselves of its services in collecting bills on all parts of the country. It is also noteworthy that the bank pays interest on all time deposits. Parties having surplus funds not needed for present purposes can deposit the same on interest until needed.

THE PARK COMMITTEE.

A Proposition from the Schenley Estate.

Although the need of fresh air at this particular time of year is not much felt, the subject of parks is an interesting one when we think of the sultry days of July and the regular "schorchers" of August. Councils have for some time been discussing the park question, and the matter was finally referred to a committee. At a meeting of that committee some time ago sub-committees were appointed for different districts of the consolidated city, to look for eligible sites for the proposed park, and report the terms on which the land could be secured. Yesterday afternoon a meeting of the Park Committee was held, and one of these sub-committees having been appointed to examine the tract of the Schenley estate which had been offered to the committee, reported in favor of accepting the proposition. Mr. Hatch, the agent of the Schenley estate, offers to donate to the city a tract of thirty-five acres, on consideration that the city would improve it and construct four approaches to the park. Although the tract is valued at two hundred thousand dollars, it is said that if improved as a park, it will increase the value of the adjoining land to more than that amount.

After hearing the report of the sub-committee, the Park Committee decided to recommend to Councils that the proposition of Captain Schenley be accepted.

BREVITIES.

....An epizootic horse fell dead on Second avenue last evening.

....People in the suburbs call Mr. McCarthy's bill now the equilzoot.

....The fountains in the Allegheny parks are being prepared for winter.

....Eight thousand feet of new hose have been ordered by the Fire Commission, as recommended by Chief White.

....It is thought that some of the horses of the Allegheny Fire Department will be in a condition to use by the first of next week.

....This evening Post No. 151 G. A. R. of the South Side, will hold a grand reunion or "Camp Fire" at their hall on Carson street.

....The first good fall of snow last evening was pleasantly suggestive of sleighing, which of late years has almost become a "lost art" in Pittsburgh.

....Another new steel works is talked of by several of our capitalists. Its capital will be half a million and its location somewhere near Brinton's Station.

....The alarm of fire at half-past five o'clock last evening from box 53, No. 9 engine house, Fifth avenue, was caused by the burning of a chimney on Hope street.

....Last evening Miss Matilda Hindman lectured before the Young Men's Temperance Society, at their rooms at the "Home," on Duquesne Way, near Ninth street. The attendance was large and the lecture was of a very interesting nature.

....The hen disease, nothing more than the old style "gaps" although called now by a terribly mixed and outlandish name, prevails to some extent in this county, but not so much so as to excite any fear about the supply of foul on thanksgiving day.

....The contractor of the Ninth ward (Allegheny) police station and engine house is making progress very slowly. He has been at work now two months, and has got so far as to complete the foundation. A part of the time but one man has been at work on the building.

....The Fire Department has sent a steam engine to East Liberty, and while an engine house is being built, the steamer will be kept at the livery stable of Messrs. Moreland & Mitchell. At an alarm the citizens will proceed to the stable and assist in getting the machine to the fire.

....It is said that water mains will be put down on Highland avenue, from the Highland reservoir, now being made, to Penn avenue, as soon as the frost is out of the ground next spring. The property holders along the avenue also contemplate making an effort to get the avenue paved, under the Penn avenue law, at an early day, perhaps next summer.

....The Month's mind solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated this morning at ten o'clock, in St. Paul's Cathedral, by Rt. Rev. Bishop Domenec, assisted by a majority of the priests and students in the Pittsburgh Roman Catholic diocese, for the eternal repose of the soul of the late lamented Bishop O'Connor. The services will doubtless prove very interesting.

....The slight fire in the room of the Thirteenth ward school house on Monday afternoon, although easily extinguished by a bucket of water, caused quite a panic among the scholars. One teacher locked the door of her room, upon learning that the fire was very small, and another teacher saved the lives of two girls by preventing them from jumping out of the window.

....On Monday afternoon two boys, cousins, named Frank Fulton and Fulton Dilworth, who lived at the head of Shady Lane, East Liberty, were examining a revolver, when the weapon was accidentally discharged. The ball struck young Dilworth in the forehead, but fortunately, instead of penetrating the bone, glanced upward. The injury, though painful, is not considered dangerous.

....As the mail train over the Parkersburgh Branch of the B. & O. R. R. was coming East last Friday evening at a rapid rate, it ran into a lot of cattle four or five miles east of Clarksburg, W. Va. Two or three of the cars were thrown from the track, and striking a small house in which were five or six persons, completely demolished it. A child in the house was killed; all the other inmates escaped uninjured.

....Last evening Capt. Reed, by instructions of Mayor Blackmore, issued an order excluding all persons from going back into the lockup among the prisoners, unless by the permission of the Captain of the watch, who will accompany him. Even policemen are forbidden to enter the lockup except to take back a prisoner. A great many "loafers" about the lockup have been interfering with the prisoners lately, and were the occasion of this order.

....The terrible death of two men who had grown beastly intoxicated from Sunday liquor drinking has excited the moral portion of the community with indignation, and our postoffice drawer has been flooded with communications on the subject. In each instance the local authorities are condemned for not enforcing the law preventing saloons from selling liquor on the Sabbath, and some cases are cited where with broad open doors saloons do a thriving Sunday business and no return of them is made to the court.

....A meeting of the subscribers to the capital stock of the new iron works proposed to be erected on the grounds of the Wheeling and Belmont Wine and Grape Growing Association, was held in this city last Saturday evening. It was ascertained that $125,000 of the stock had been taken, leaving but $25,000 yet to be subscribed. A committee, consisting of Messrs. Holloway, Rhodes, Baggs, Jones, Lewis, Moffat and Orr, was appointed to solicit for the remaining stock, which it was believed they would have little difficulty in obtaining. The name chosen for the new enterprise is, "The Ætna Iron and Nail Works."—Wheeling Intelligencer.

POLICE PARAGRAPHS.

Brief Mention of Criminalities.

MAYOR BLACKMORE disposed of thirty-nine common cases at the hearing yesterday morning. Minnie Moore, for disorderly conduct, was sent to the Work House for sixty days.

DANIEL O'BRIEN alleges before Alderman O'Donnell, that James Maguire struck him on the probosis with his fist, and desired the Alderman to have James arrested. A warrant was issued for that purpose.

BEFORE Deputy Mayor Salisbury, of the South Side, Michael Hennesy alleged that John Wilson was guilty of assault and battery in pitching him out of his (Wilson's) saloon. The defendant gave bail for a trial.

MAYOR CALLOW had thirteen common cases at the hearing yesterday morning. Margretta White and Ellen Dunn received thirty day commitments to the work house, and Caspar Waymen went to jail for thirty days.

HERMAN ZOUNKER yesterday made an information before Alderman D. L. Smith of Allegheny, charging George Pearce with the larceny of a lot of cigars and whisky which were in the prosecutor's cellar. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the defendant.

YESTERDAY morning Thomas Haney, one of the party who was arrested for disorderly conduct on Saturday night at the house of Michael Conway, in "Limerick," and who was discharged after a hearing, lodged an information before Deputy Mayor Barker of the South Side, charging Conway with using threatening language towards him. The accused was arrested and gave bail for trial.

A FEW evenings since a party of men came to the saloon of Antony Briegal, on Ohio street, after midnight, and as the saloon was closed and Antony refused to admit them, they proceeded to force an entrance into the saloon. Antony lives quite convenient to the office of Alderman D. L. Smith, and yesterday called in and made an information charging Samuel Woods and others of the party with malicious mischief. Warrants were issued.

We had the pleasure yesterday of greeting and welcoming home our friend Mr. Charles Meyran, who, with his family, left home the 1st of June, and has visited most of the European countries and metropoli. They were passengers on the German steamship Leipsic from Berlin, which, after a remarkably stormy trip, arrived safely at New York on Saturday last. Mr. Meyran appears in high health and spirits.

"What's the hurry, Tom? Where're You Rushing To?"

"Can't stop now. I can't stand this weather without a warmer overcoat, and I'm on my way now to the Boston Store, 95 Smithfield street, where I can get a good one without being swindled into paying a big price."

FIT THEM FOR LIFE.

How to Train Boys—Educate Them to Think—The Advantages of Thorough Culture—Where it may be had in Pittsburgh—A Model Institution—Ayers Latin School.

The time has gone by when there is any force in the idle assertion of ignorance that collegiate culture unfits a man for the practical duties of life; the truth is now universally recognized that education not only prepares a man for success, but that without the training and culture coming through a collegiate course, the highest success is never achieved. A self-made man as it is termed, may succeed, but he would have succeeded in a larger degree if his natural gifts were supplemented with the training of education.

But while this fact is true, it does not necessarily follow that the proper kind of training may be had at every institution of learning passing under that name, and parents having children to educate should be careful in making a selection so that neither time nor money may be squandered. Oftentimes a school having a high sounding name is surrounded with so much sensationalism, that there is no room for merit if it had any; while there are other schools where the work is done quietly, thoroughness, not flash, being the characteristic-schools which within their limits, are always up to the standard.

A few days since our attention was casually called to an institution of this latter class of which we had occasionally heard commendations, but never had personally visited. Curiosity at last being aroused, we took occasion to visit the school, which is known as Ayers Latin School, and is located at No 29 Fifth avenue, in Gray's building. The school is under the management of Prof. J. E. Ayers, so well known as formerly one of the most honored members of the Western University faculty, and is designed to provide thorough drill in the rudiments of an English and classical education for boys sufficiently extensive to prepare them for any of our best colleges. The plan is modeled somewhat after that adopted in the east, and which has there been found so highly successful.

The school rooms are located on one of the upper floors, removed from the bustle of the street and yet very convenient of access—securing quiet for study. They are large, well lighted and well ventilated—the latter feature being an especial characteristic. The furnishment embraces everything necessary of modern school furniture; together with maps, charts, diagrams, dictionaries and a library of reference for the pupils; while the appearance of the interior is greatly beautified by landscapes portraits, and sketches, along the walls. There is every comfort and convenience for the pupil, and the arrangements are of such a character that there seems to hang over the apartments an indefinable home. Like air, greatly at variance with the bleakness of the ordinary school room; we have rarely inspected anything of the kind which so nearly approached an ideal school home—a place where study was a pleasure—almost a pastime.

Our visit was made at a time when the school was in session, and the pleasant impressions made by the appearance of the rooms was enhanced by the evidence presented of the general superiority of the school in that more important particular—its work. A stranger had not been expected and the pupils had not been "crammed" for an examination—but the test of the work as seen in the recitations from the classes was of the most satisfactory character and displayed in a marked degree the practical thoroughness which pervaded everything. A peculiar feature observable in all the responses was the absence of "bookish" affectation, the boys seeming to have been indoctrinated with the true idea that a clear understanding of principles was the practical end of study—not merely the repetition of rules by note. The pupils seemed to be infused with a healthy appreciation, of mental independence, and enthusiasm for mastering their studies, which alone comes from the influence and example of the instructor. The exercises seemed hardly recitations—more like interesting conversations between pupils and teachers—a happy combination of instruction and entertainment. During the exercises, the excellence of discipline in the school was manifest in the good order which prevailed. The intercourse between the teacher and scholar seemed to be of a familiar, genial character which seemed to remove chilling restraint and yet never permitted any infringement upon proper department. In this respect Prof. Ayers and his assistants appear to have reached that "golden mean" that removes the formal atmosphere of a school room, and makes it a thoroughly pleasant place for social intercourse and study.

From the recitations and subsequent inquiries we learned that the aim of Prof. Ayers was to provide a preparatory institution where boys might be fitted to enter any college. In pursuance of that design, the course of studies is arranged not with reference to any one college, but selected with the object of thoroughly instructing the pupils in the rudiments—first principles—after which he can enter any higher educational institution in the land. The evidence of the success of the plan is seen in the fact that already there are representatives of the school in Yale, Princeton, Cornell and Amherst, and that in no case where a pupil has tried to enter has there been a failure. If success be the test of merit, certainly no better proof is needed of the excellence of Ayer's Latin School.

During our visit we had an opportunity of becoming somewhat acquainted with the faculty, who—judging from effects—are eminently qualified for their duties. Prof. Ayers, himself a graduate of one of the best colleges, supplements his scholastic training with years of experience in the school room, which places him in the front rank of practical educators. Under his supervision the school, which is but three years of age, has been remarkably successful, each year gaining more friends and in the confidence of parents having sons to educate, and commencing upon the present term more prosperous than ever before. He will be assisted hereafter by Edward D. Mason, A. B., a graduate of Dartmouth College, who led is a class of seventy members, and who since bidding adieu to his Alma Mater has made his mark as an instructor. Alphonse Danse, A. M., will continue in the French, Mr. Carl Grebe in the German and others equally as well qualified in the others; all departments are well filled and the school thus kept fully abreast of the times. Prof. Ayers is progressive in his direction and accepts nothing but the best from teachers as well as pupils, while he is ever on the lookout for anything that will lead to greater efficiency in the management of the institution. The hour we spent in the school room was an exceedingly pleasant one—pleasant as reviving school day memories and doubly pleasant in the evidence furnished us of the fact that Pittsburgh has an institution of such a thoroughly meritorious character. And as we commend Prof. Ayers for his success in the past, we cannot but also congratulate him—now that his school is becoming as widely appreciated as its merits deserve—upon the auspicious prospects which he has for the future.

PERSISTENT EFFORTS.

Three Unsuccessful Attempts at Suicide.

About five o'clock yesterday afternoon Officer John Rigley arrested a man in the Diamond on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He gave his name as Thomas Cole, and was placed in cell No. 3. About half-past six o'clock Captain Reed was walking back in the lock-up when he noticed that Cole had a large blue comfort tied around the bars a foot or so above his head, and was in the act of tying the other end around his neck. The Captain untied the comfort, and warned him not to repeat the operation. Within a few minutes the Captain returned and found Cole making another attempt, and this time with the comfort tied around his neck, all ready to "swing off." Captain Reed thought to frighten him, and threatened to handcuff him. This seemed to have no effect upon him, however, for in a few moments he was detected making a third attempt to depart to "That country from whose bourn no traveler e'er returns," via the strangulation route.

The Captain wished to save the Coronor from the trouble of an inquest, and so procured a pair of handcuffs. These were too small, however, and Cole was fastened to the iron ring in the rear of the cell, and made no more attempts at suicide.

Capt. Louis Hager.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—In my absence from the city I failed to put my name to the numerously signed requisition made by the citizens of the old Second ward on Capt. Louis Hager calling on him to become the candidate of the Republican party for the office of Alderman, and now contribute my acquiescence and endorsement to the movement. There are other gentlemen in the ward aspiring to the nomination and all are most excellent citizens, but availability is the policy to be adopted in the selection of all candidates for the ward offices, as the Republican party, through dissensions that should not exist, has not a weaker place in the county and the very best and most popular material should be brought forward as candidates in order to bring harmony and success to the old "banner ward." Capt. Hager has long resided in the ward and has ever enjoyed the respect and esteem of his fellow citizens. He is not a politician, but comes fresh from the people as one of the people, with a splendid record as a soldier and good name as a man and citizen. With liberal education and fine executive abilities and business qualities, he is in the candid opinion of many as available a man for the Aldermanship as any that could be selected. If nominated he will certainly develop great personal strength and popularity, and will be elected. I vouch for it that he will faithfully administer the affairs of the office and not disappoint the expectations of his many friends inside and outside the boundaries of the ward.

NO POLITICIAN.

Personal.

We are highly gratified to notice the change that has recently been made in the house of Wm. Fleming & Co., 139 Wood street. The firm named have long felt the need of a competent person to take charge of the retail room. One was desired whose courtesy, system and knowledge of the business would qualify him to take charge of this department, and who would not only be acceptable and valuable to the firm, but one who could win and retain the confidence of the patrons of this fashionable and popular establishment. Such an one we are pleased to learn they have found in the person of Mr. James A. McCune, who has so long been identified with the house as accountant, and who is thoroughly acquainted with the trade in all its departments. Mr. McCune has been placed at the head of the retail room, which is one of the finest in the country, and we presume that this house is now doing the largest and finest trade of any one in this line in the city. We can say most heartily that we wish him every success in his new position; and we feel assured that by his urbanity and gentlemanly dealing that he will make hosts of friends.

Error Corrected.

MESSRS. EDITORS: In your issue of Tuesday morning, a statement is made to the effect that Dr. Jennings has been our veterinary surgeon, and is now treating four of our horses. This is a mistake. Our stables are now and have been for the past two years in charge of Dr. N. P. Duffey, who has very successfully treated our horses. During the prevailing epizootic he has been especially successful, and our horses have been kept in such condition that we have not been stopped one day from the disease, having had them out every day except one, when it was raining, and we took the precaution of not exposing them. We have had no "fatal cases," and Dr. Duffey's success certainly has been remarkable.

JUDGMENT VERIFIED.

A Business Man's View Sustained—The Support Accorded an Allegheny House—Great Improvements in Semple's Dry Goods Palace.

A year or two ago, when Mr. Wm. Semple, of Allegheny, proposed the erection of a magnificent establishment for the accommodation of his myriads of patrons, there were many wiseacres who sagely shook their heads and indulged in doleful prophecies as to the result. But the merchant, having given careful study to his plans, and being convinced of its advantage, went ahead, until there rose in Allegheny one of the grandest dry goods houses in the country, in which Mr. Semple was soon settled, and where he was fully prepared for a mammoth trade. His judgment of the situation was soon verified by the increased patronage which was drawn to the store—coming in such a flood that even his anticipations were more than realized. The patronage from that time continued to increase, and now it is discovered that the lower floor, which was the retail sales room, is not sufficient to accommodate the trade, and the proprietor of the house has at last found it necessary to provide more room. In order to do this he has selected the second floor as an additional sales room, and the artizans are now at work upon it, rearranging and refitting it up especially for this branch of his trade. The work is being thoroughly done, and when completed the room, it is thought, will even surpass that on the floor below.

Mr. Semple, however, does not stop merely with furnishing ample room for his patrons, but keeps up his stock in proportion. He has just laid in a fresh assortment of goods for the season which in variety, quality and completeness is ahead of anything he has yet presented, while the prices are proportionately lower. Such bargains have never been offered heretofore, nor such a large stock to select from. It is presumable that the people appreciate the advantages as they crowd in daily, filling the store constantly and keeping the large corps of clerks always busy. Buyers, whether wholesale or retail, are fully alive to their interests and seem to know where they can deal to the best advantage.

Mr. Semple is always alive to the times—a fresh instance of which he has given in supplying himself with ox teams, by which means he is enabled to avoid all trouble from inability to procure horses. His trade is thus kept up without interruption, and goods are received and shipped daily without delay. Thus retail dealers will find just what they want at Semple's, and have the benefit of selecting from the best stock ever brought to the city, and wholesale dealers can have all their orders filled without a moment's delay, and with a satisfaction that they cannot find elsewhere. We congratulate Mr. Semple upon the verification of his judgment vouchsafed in the greatly increased trade he is now enjoying, and congratulate our readers as well, upon the advantages which are thrown open to them at this great establishment—the great dry goods palace, 165, 167 and 169 Federal street, Allegheny.

Amusements.

PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE.—Mr. Proctor has certainly made a "hit" with the "Red Pocket Book," and last night's audience was equally as large as that of Monday. The drama of the "Red Pocket Book" is one which holds its interest from the prologue to the final chapter, and the dangers to which Maurice is subjected are of such thrilling a nature that the sympathy of an audience is manifested by many hearty rounds of applause at his safety from them, and his final triumph. The ship scene of the play worked exceedingly smooth on last evening, and certainly deserves to be called the finest mechanical piece ever presented on our dramatic stage, ingeniously contrived and fearfully real. The support Mr. Proctor receives from the stock company adds greatly to the success of the play.

THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Mlle. Morlacchi, and the splendid troupe of artistes which accompany her, had a fine house last night, and the entertainment furnished was well worthy the cordial reception awarded. This company is universally regarded with high favor and we do not marvel that upon each return to our city that they are more warmly welcomed and draw larger houses. To-night an elegant bill is offered, one that should fill the house from pit to dome.

AMERICAN THEATRE.—To-night the great Irish giant, Ned O'Baldwin, will appear in a terrific puglistic contest with Prof. McDonald, who is a foeman by heighth and build worthy of his steel. This match, although made in as friendly a spirit as possible, has excited much attention in sporting and other circles, and will doubtless attract a very large audience this evening. Aside from this novelty there will be presented numerous other attractions, which cannot fail to draw a full and overflowing house. A family matinee will be held this afternoon for ladies and children, when the full programme will be fulfilled.

TRIMBLE'S VARIETIES.—This great place of popular amusement, on Penn avenue, holds its own bravely, and night after night has crowded audiences. This afternoon a specially grand matinee will be held, at which the strong company of the theatre will appear in their best and most advantageous characters.

PROF. J. M. MACALLISTER.—Full particulars concerning the opening of the short series of this remarkable wonder-worker will be given in our paper to-morrow. Don't fail to read them.

CAROLINE RICHINGS.—The sale of reserved seats for the grand concert to be given by Caroline Richings (Mrs. Bernhard) at Library Hall next Saturday night, is most favorably progressing, and the indications are favorable for a large audience. The sales are still in progress at Kleber's music store, 122 Wood street, and we earnestly advise all of readers to take early advantage to secure a good place, as there will doubtless be a crowded attendance at the concert.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

In the name and by the authority of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, John W. Geary, Governor.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Believing in the Lord our covenant God, in whom our fathers trusted, and in His controlling Providence over the affairs of men and nations, a public acknowledgement of His goodness, and of our constant dependence upon Him, is eminently becoming an enlightened and civilized people:

Now, therefore, impressed with these sentiments, in pursuance of a revered custom, and in conformity with the Proclamation of Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, recommending that

THURSDAY, THE 28TH DAY OF NOVEMBER NEXT BE SET APART AS A DAY OF PRAISE, PRAYER AND THANKSGIVING,

I John W. Geary, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do most respectfully request the citizens of this State to observe that day as such, with all due respect and solemnity.

Let thanks be given to Almighty God that He has bestowed upon us all the common blessings of life, given us health, and relieved us from pestilence; that labor is abundantly rewarded; that we have no dread of impending famine, or fear of industrial or commercial distress; that the arts, sciences, general education, and the sentiments of peace and good will are steadily advancing. Let us be especially thankful for the great privileges of American citizenship; for the untrammeled expression of American opinion; that our political rights still remain safe under beneficent laws, and in the hands of an order loving people, and that "equal and exact justice" is vouchsafed to all. For these and other civil, social and religious blessings we enjoy, let us yield the sincere tribute of grateful hearts, and humbly beseech their continuance.

Given under my Hand and the Great Seal of the State, at Harrisburg, this twenty-eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, and of the Commonwealth the ninety-seventh.

[SEAL] JOHN W. GEARY.

By the Governor:
F. JORDAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

LADIES' FURS.

Fine Russian Sable—Hudson Bay Sable and Seal Setts—One Price.

The cold weather of the past few days is making the fur trade quite brisk, and we are pleased to be able to announce the fact that the fashionable and popular house of Wm. Fleming & Co., 139 Wood street, has been constantly thronged with customers. You will find at this house the most complete and extensive line of ladies', misses' and children's fine fancy furs in the city, consisting in part of Russian and Hudson Bay sable, mink sable, seal setts, Black Marten setts, black and brown lynx setts, German fitch, Siberian squirrel, Astrachan and Persian lamb setts. You will find also at this house a complete line of all the cheaper grades of goods, so that the purses and tastes of all may be suited.

Bear in mind that all goods are sold at the lowest prices, and that all goods are warranted as represented. The one price system will in all cases be strictly adhered to.

There are few persons that are not in want of something in the hardware line, and the place to be accommodated is at Drum & Sons, 159 Federal street.

WE have 40 men at work on Wheelbarrows, Hand Carts, Ox Yokes and Store Trucks, at Duquesne Wagon Works, near Soldier's Monument.

HOW TO USE MERCURY.

Never put mercury into your stomach. The proper place for it is the thermometer or the barometer. There it will inform you of the changes of temperature, or forewarn you of the coming of storms, thus indicating the times and seasons when it is necessary to reinforce the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in order to ward off the ailments which peculiar conditions of the elements produce. When the quicksilver suddenly falls several degrees of Fahrenheit, as it often does at this season, fortify the system against the depressing influence of this sudden abstraction of heat by a dose of the most genial and wholesome of all invigorants. Or if the indicator of your barometer points to stormy, brace up for those damp, driving gales which are sure to search to the very marrow of an untoned organization. Fever and ague, chronic indigestion, violent colics, dysentery, bilious intermittents, rheumatism, and a host of pulmonary complaints, come of such visitations. no18

FREE BRIDGES.

An Interesting Matter for the South Side—The Call for Free Bridges—Meeting of the Special Committee—A Conference to be Held.

The ratification of the South Side consolidation having been completed by the admission of the members from that district into City Councils, one of the first and most interesting matters that came up was that in reference to free bridges. The subject early engaged the attention of Councils, and at a recent meeting the following resolution was passed:

WHEREAS, It is desirable that all bridges within the corporate limits of the city should be free, be it

Resolved, That there be appointed a select committee of five—three from common and two from select council—who shall, in conjunction with the city engineer, examine the subject of bridging the Monongahela river within the city limits, and report to Councils on the practicability of erecting a bridge or bridges which may by a system of tolls be made to pay for themselves, and become free bridges, or report on any plan by which the desired end may be attained.

Messrs. Riddell and Fetterman of Select Council and Messrs. McConway, Rolfe and Jones of the Common Branch were appointed a special Committee to consider the matter. Yesterday this Committee held a meeting in the City Engineer's office to lay out their programme.

In accordance with this action some time was spent in an informal discussion of the subject, the chief point being whether it was of any avail to attempt new negotiations with the Bridge Companies, or whether the city should not at once proceed to build new structures. There was a strong feeling in favor of building new bridges as it was generally conceded that in case of a purchase it would not be long anyhow before the old ones would have to be renewed. The Committee however, finally, concluded to have a conference with the Directors of the Bridge Companies and learn their terms. With this in view, Messrs. McConway, Riddell and Fetterman were appointed to confer with the Directors and to report to another meeting of the Committee to be called at an early day by the Chairman.

WELLMAN'S
PATENT
REFLECTOR GRATE AND STOVE.

This Stove is simply a portable Grate, intended to be used where the flue is too small to admit the ordinary grate. Where the chimney is sufficiently large the grate can be set into the jamb in the usual way. The advantages claimed for this invention are as follows:
First—As a radiator of heat, it has double the intensity.
Second—It is unquestionably the most cleanly—no soot or ashes escaping into the room which, in the ordinary grate, proves so detrimental to carpets and furniture.
Third—The combustion is perfect. There is no waste in unburnt cinders—every ounce of the fuel is so completely consumed, that nothing remains but the fine ashes.
Fourth—As an economizer of fuel—there being an actual saving of at least 25 per cent.
Fifth—It is highly ornamental.
Sixth—It is set so deep in the chimney, that it is much safer, and also less liable to puff in windy weather.
Seventh—A slight motion of the shaker cleanses the entire fire, and causes it to burn with great brilliancy and intensity of heat.
Read the following testimonials which speak for themselves.
MESSRS. L. H. SMITH & CO.—Gentlemen:—We have used your Stove or "Portable Grate," and it affords us pleasure to state that it is more than you represent it to be. It makes a good heat, great saving in coal, free from dust and dirt, and keeps the room in which it is used, very pure.
